America Planning for New War, Says Sweet

ATTEMPT TO LULL PEOPLE TO SLEEP SEEN BY SPEAKER

Colorado Governor Criticizes "Mobilization Day" at Meeting of Federal Church Council.

"SMOKE SCREEN" USED DECLARES SPEAKER

Address Comes on Heels of Move to Outlaw War, Submitted by Delegate From Chicago.

America is getting ready for another war—all pacifist propaganda and "smoke screens" to the contrary notwithstanding.

This was the graphic and uncolored statement made Monday night before more than 500 delegates to the quadrennial meeting of the Federal Churches of Christ in America, by Governor William E. Sweet, of Colorado.

It stirred the convention, which began a week's session at Central Presbyterian church last Wednesday, following psychologically upon the heels of a move to outlaw war, submitted by the commission on international justice and good will.

Earlier Monday, the Morrison resolution, which would instruct the committee on army and navy chaplains to discontinue its activity in appointment of chaplains in the officers' reserve corps, was referred to a special committee for investigation by the council.

"Recent events strongly indicate that America is preparing for another war," declared Governor Sweet. "The smoke-screen of preparedness is being used to lull the people into acquiescence in the most extensive military program this country has ever adopted."

Governor Sweet was speaking on "Christianizing Our International Relations." The churches, he declared, are indignant at the attitude of congress concerning America's relations to international peace.

Recent events strongly indicate that America is preparing for the next war, and that the smoke-screen of preparedness is being used to lull the people into acquiescence in the most extensive military program this country has ever adopted.

DISTINCT SET-BACK GIVEN LIBERALISM IN GERMAN RESULT

Socialists and Possibly Democrats May Be Eliminated From Calculations by Sunday Balloting.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Berlin, December 8.—The net result of Sunday's balloting for the reichstag and the Prussian diet is set down by political observers as indicating a distinct set-back for progressive parties and parliamentary government.

This condition is amply reflected by editorials appearing today in the nationalist and conservative bourgeois press, which professes to see in the results of Sunday's balloting the long sought opportunity to eliminate the socialists, and possibly also the democrats, from participation in future governments.

No concealment is made in government circles of the fact that the Von Tirpitz-Bismarck party has not only been returned in its full former strength, but has also enhanced its position.

NEW THIRD PARTY ON NATIONAL BASIS LA FOLLETTE'S IDEA

Creation of Permanent Organization To Be Urged by Wisconsin Senator at Conference This Week.

WOULD TAKE PART IN 1926 ELECTIONS

Independent Candidate Believes Time Is Ripe To Throw Organization in Congress Campaigns.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER. (Copyright, 1924, by United News.) Washington, December 8.—Far from being discouraged over his defeat last month, Senator Robert M. La Follette wants to go ahead with the founding of a permanent third party of national proportions.

From one who is in the complete confidence of Senator La Follette, it is learned that he hopes a national progressive party will be organized soon, with the immediate object of putting a complete ticket in the field for the congressional and state elections in 1926.

Wish Not Decisive. Senator La Follette's wish is not necessarily decisive. But his influence in the progressive movement is so great that it certainly is indicative.

From the start of his independent candidacy, Senator La Follette took the position that political parties are born and not made.

WRIGLEY TO APPEAL AWARD OF $1,471,000

Chicago, December 8.—A thirteen years' controversy over the color scheme once used by the William Wrigley, Jr., company on one kind of its chewing gum, in which Federal Judge Wilkerson today gave an award of $1,471,000 to the L. T. Larson, Jr., company, is not ended. The Wrigley company will appeal.

William Wrigley, Jr., president of the Wrigley company, explained that the award gave him no concern, as the sum was less than 10 per cent of the company's surplus. He added that the color scheme in the controversy was abandoned by his company in 1918, but that Federal Judge Anderson had decided that the company had a perfect right to use it and that therefore the company would appeal.

A master in chancery calculated profits of the Wrigley company during the period that the disputed color scheme was used at $2,860,083, which with 6 per cent interest would amount to about $4,000,000, but Judge Wilkerson refused the figure.

$40,000,000 FUND FOR CHARITY EDUCATION

Davidson, N. C. Davidson is a Presbyterian institution.

Five per cent to Furman university, Greenville, S. C. Furman is a Baptist university.

Four per cent to Johnson C. Smith university, Charlotte. Johnson C. Smith university formerly was known as Biddle university, and is a negro school.

The trustees named by Mr. Duke include Mrs. James B. Duke, Somerville, N. J.; George C. Allen, William B. Perkins, William B. Bell, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Walter C. Parker and Alexander H. Sands, Jr., all of New York; William S. Lee, Charles L. Burkholder, Norman A. Cooke and Edward C. Marshall, Charlotte, and Benjamin E. Geer, Greenville, S. C.

Trust in Preparation.

The trust indenture according to tonight's announcement, is now in course of preparation and will be executed by Mr. Duke on his return to his home in New Jersey in a few days.

Recalling that he has for years been engaged in developing water power resources of North Carolina and South Carolina, Mr. Duke in a statement set out in the indenture for the guidance of the trustees, says that "my ambition is that the revenues of such developments shall administer to the social welfare, as the operation of such developments is administering to the economic welfare of the communities which they serve." He then commends to the trustees the securities of the Southern Power system as the prime investment for the funds of the trust and advises the trustees not to change such investments unless urgently necessary.

Education Next to Religion.

"I recognize that education, when conducted along sane and practical, as opposed to dogmatic and theoretical lines, is next to religion, the greatest civilizing influence," says Mr. Duke's statement. In giving his reasons for creating Duke university, he asks that a faculty assuring the university "a place of real leadership in the educational world" be secured, and that courses be arranged primarily for training preachers, teachers, lawyers and physicians.

Hospitals have been selected as another means for distributing the income of the trust, because, according to the statement, they not only minister to the comfort of the sick, but increase "the efficiency of mankind and prolong human life."

Orphans Are Remembered.

Orphans are included in the trust, Mr. Duke's statement to the trustees says, "in an effort to help those who are unable to help themselves." He adds that in his opinion, however, "nothing can take the place of a home and its influences," adding that "every effort should be made to safeguard these wards of God."

The choice of supernumerary ministers and rural churches of the Methodist church is chosen as "a very fertile and unexploited field for useful help in religious life." In order to assist "by way of support and maintenance in those cases where the head of the family, though devoting his life to the religious service of his fellowman, has been unable to accumulate for his declining years and for his widow and children, and assisting in building and maintenance of churches in rural districts where the people are not able to do this properly themselves." He expressed the belief that such a pension system "is a just call which will secure a better grade of service." In conclusion he says: "I have endeavored to make provision in some measure for the needs of mankind along physical, mental and spiritual lines, largely confining the benefactions to those sections which they serve." He then commends to the trustees the securities of the Southern Power system, as the prime investment for the funds of the trust and advises the trustees not to change such investments unless urgently necessary.

Announcement of the creation of the trust, while not unexpected, came several days before it had been planned, according to persons who had been advised of Mr. Duke's intentions. It had been planned first to call together representatives of the beneficiaries of the trust and advise them of its creation. This meeting was to have been held here tomorrow, and tonight it was understood that many of the beneficiaries had not been advised of this plan. Word of the plan, however, became public in some manner and Mr. Duke decided to make the announcement tonight.

Trinity Aid Expected.

Reports have been rife for many months that Mr. Duke planned to create a large endowment fund for Trinity college, of which he and members of his family have long been benefactors. Mr. Duke already has given several million dollars to the college, B. N. Duke, of New York, and the late General Julian S. Carr, of Durham, also were large benefactors of the institution.

The only conditional item in the trust, in so far as the announcement of tonight shows, is that for Duke university, Davidson college and Johnson C. Smith university, are unconditional.

EASTMAN ANNOUNCES
GIFTS OF $12,500,000.

Rochester, N. Y., December 8.—Bringing his total known benefactions to $58,602,000, George Eastman, head of the Eastman Kodak company, today announced new gifts of $12,500,000 to institutions of higher education, after recently announcing a gift of $2,500,000 in the greater University of Rochester campaign. Those to benefit under the latest gifts of Mr. Eastman are:

Massachusetts Institute of Technology, $1,500,000, which is added to previous gifts of $11,000,000; University of Rochester, $6,000,000; Hampton Institute, $1,000,000 and Tuskegee Institute, $1,000,000.

Of Mr. Eastman's total of $58,602,000, the sum of $23,578,500 has been given to the University of Rochester.

Despite the fact that today's gifts mark the disposal of the last large block of his personal stock holdings in the Eastman Kodak company, Mr. Eastman makes it clear that he will continue to direct the affairs of the company and hopes to as long as he lives.

Gifts made today and not announced before are under terms similar to those made to employees. Stock sold to benefiting institutions for $12,500,000 less than its actual value. While provision is made that it may be paid for in installments during the life of Mr. Eastman, it is given without any restriction regarding the time for sale. It may be sold today if the beneficiaries desire to part with it.

TRINITY BOARD PRESIDENT
UNWILLING TO COMMENT.

Raleigh, N. C., December 8.—"I had heard a rumor of something of that kind, but I have not yet had any official notice of it and would not like to comment at this time," stated Joseph Brown, of Raleigh, president of the board of trustees of Trinity college, here tonight when informed of the offer of a trust fund to be given to Trinity college by James B. Duke, provided its name is changed to "Duke University."

"The matter of changing the name of the college, one solely for the board of trustees," stated Mr. Brown. "The next regular meeting of the board will not be held until June and no special meeting has yet been called, but I should think that any board would convene promptly to consider such an offer coming from such a source."

TRINITY PRESIDENT
ANXIOUS TO COOPERATE.

Durham, N. C., December 8.—Asserting his gratitude to James B. Duke for the provision made for Trinity college in the $40,000,000 trust fund announced tonight, Dr. William P. Few, president of the institution, expressed the belief tonight that "the trustees and all others connected with the college will be equally grateful and equally anxious to cooperate with Mr. Duke in his wonderful plans."

Following is Dr. Few's statement: "A representative of The Associated Press has just handed me a press dispatch from Charlotte announcing large gifts that Mr. Duke is making to good causes in North and South Carolina. I am naturally grateful to Mr. Duke for the way in which he has remembered educational institutions, especially the one with which I am connected. As an officer of Trinity College, I will do everything in my power to cooperate with Mr. Duke's purposes, and I feel sure that the trustees and all others connected with the college will be equally grateful and equally anxious to cooperate with Mr. Duke in his wonderful plans."

BAN PRONOUNCED

meeting of Federal Churches of Christ in America in Atlanta. She had this to say about women smoking:

Naturally I do not approve of women smoking. I do not smoke myself and do not see why it is necessary for any woman to use tobacco in any form. I have been in Latin America for a long time, and I have not yet seen a woman smoke there. It is not done. They simply couldn't do it. They wouldn't understand it."

And Mrs. Charles S. McFarlane, wife of the general secretary of the council, whose home is in Mountain Lake, N. J., at the door of New York's Broadway where women in all kinds of smoke—also disappears strong of women smoking, either in private or in public.

"I think it is just unbecomingly for a woman's health. While I am not personally interested either way, I do not approve of smoking by women."

And so the forum started by the Pipe Smokers of America when they considered admitting women smokers to their organization goes merrily on with sentiment, thus far, evenly divided.

SOUTHERN ROAD FINED
UNDER SAFETY ACT

Greensboro, N. C., December 8.—The Southern Railway company was fined $900 in federal court here today by Judge E. Yates Webb on charges of violating the federal safety appliance act. There were twelve causes of action in the civil suit and on nine of them the railroad was fined a sum, the fine being $100 in each instance. Non-suits were ordered in the remaining three causes.

and pave Luckie street between Barlow street and North avenue while the city would pay all property damages, and also arrange for water, sewer, gas, and other necessary connections.

Sidewalks on both sides of the street would be made a part of the project, which, in accordance with his plans, would be 50 feet wide. Hemphill avenue now is almost that wide, and completion of the project would give a magnificent boulevard reaching from Peachtree street to the county limits.

Mr. York plans to change names of Luckie street and Hemphill avenue to North Side drive, as that is the name given the county road.

Plans have been drawn by C. E. Kaufman, of the construction department, routing the proposed boulevard from out Luckie street from Peachtree to where Luckie runs into Hemphill avenue, and out Hemphill avenue to the city limits.

rather than with any independent organization for the present.

The attitude of other senators associated with La Follette has not been made known in the past.

As to labor, some of the individual leaders will become associated with the party, should one be formed. William H. Johnston, chairman of the conference for progressive political action, probably will follow La Follette.

Labor To Remain Aloof.

But the American Federation of Labor organization, as such, will, in accordance with its decision at the recent El Paso convention, remain aloof for the present, though the same forces which brought about the endorsement of the La Follette candidacy last summer will continue to work for closer amalgamation.

As the official purpose of the conference of the executive committee here this week is to fix a time and place for a general progressive conference, it may not feel warranted in making any formal declarations regarding a new party. But if the sentiment of the committee seems to support La Follette, these leaders will go back and begin preparations to exert their influence accordingly when the general conference meets.

WALKER STUDYING OFFER OF JAMES

No action was taken Monday by Governor Walker in regard to the offer of $3,000,000 made to the state by C. E. James, of Chattanooga, for the purchase of the railroad property in that city owned by the state of Georgia.

The governor, who had been in Monroe since Thursday, on account of the death of his father, B. S. Walker, and the funeral on Sunday, did not remain at his office in the capital for more than a few minutes, taking his correspondence home with him. He stated that he would read and study the letter from Mr. James and reserve his decision until later. Mr. James suggested, in his letter, that a special session of the Georgia legislature be called to pass upon his offer.

Must Pay State Debt.
Attorney General George M. Napier pointed out Monday, in reiteration of a similar statement made Saturday night and published in The Sunday Constitution, that if the legislature did accept the offer, the money received would have to be used for reduction of the state's bonded indebtedness, under the constitution.

Mr. James' letter offered $1,000,000 in cash and the balance of the three-million price in annual payments extending over ten years.

Mr. Napier stated that the legislature would have full authority to sell the property, if it so desired, and quoted $570 of the state constitution in support of this statement. This section reads as follows:

"The proceeds of the sale of the Western and Atlantic, Moon and Brunswick, or any other railroad held by the state, and any other property owned by the state, whenever the general assembly may authorize the sale of the whole or any part thereof, shall be applied to the payment of the bonded debt of the state, and shall not be used for any other purpose whatever, so long as the state has any existing bonded debt; provided, that the proceeds of the sale of the Western and Atlantic railroad shall be applied to the payment of the bonds for which said railroad has been mortgaged, in preference to all other bonds."

The letter from Mr. James, in full, reads as follows:

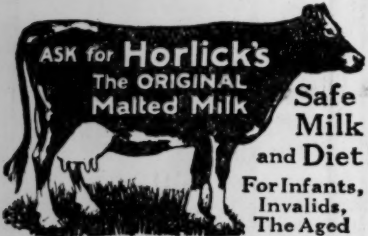

Letter From James.
Referring to the property owned at Chattanooga, by the state of Georgia, bound on the east by Market street.

Protestantism in Europe Facing Tremendous Fight

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.
Protestantism in Europe is fighting with its back against the wall. So tremendous and effective are the assaults directed against its culture and teachings that a total extinction of the work of Luther and Calvin begins to loom as a grave possibility in the near future.

This was the burden of a short address delivered before the Citizens' club at the Hotel Cecil Monday by Rev. Chauncey W. Goodrich, representing the Protestant churches of France at the Federal Council of Churches of Christ, now in session in Atlanta.

Dr. Goodrich quoted from the Osservatore Romano, the official publication of the Vatican, the prediction that within fifty years there would not be a Protestant in Central Europe. The speaker painted a dismal and somber picture of the condition of the Protestant churches in Hungary and Rumania, and submitted statistics to the effect that 80 prominent Protestant institutions, colleges, asylums and training schools had been closed in permanent desuetude, while their place had been taken by 140 new institutions under patronage of the Roman Catholic church.

As an instance of aggressive militancy on the part of the Roman Catholic church, Dr. Goodrich related an instance of recent years. He said it was only by a hairbreadth escape that the approaches to the Wartburg castle, where Dr. Luther composed his momentous translation of the Bible, had not fallen into the hands of the Jesuit order. "You can imagine," he said, "what source of infinite hatred and ill feeling would have been created if this building, the very shrine of Protestantism, had fallen into their hands."

As the underlying causes of the decline of Protestantism in Europe, the speaker cited the enormous depreciation of money values, which had practically annihilated original endowment of great institutions and also the sudden disestablishment of churches in the period immediately following the great war. To a question from the audience the speaker replied that this disestablishment had been the work of the Roman Catholic church, as in reality that body had also been hard hit by the reversal of governmental policies in supporting religious organizations.

The reason why Protestantism had suffered more was on account of its disassociation and its lack of federation. The Roman Catholic church had a general staff supervising its whole intricate machinery from the Eternal City; if a section of its far-flung fields of activity were in need, help was sent immediately, according to the speaker.

Fate of University.
"At the present time the eyes of the whole Spanish Catholic world, both in South America and in Europe are concentrated on the fate of the famous Protestant University of Spain. That institution has given to Spain and the South American republics their foremost leaders in culture and progressive thought. Under the never-ending attacks and the economic situation, the strong Catholic reaction and the aggressive policy of the Company of Jesus, this famous school is at present at its last gasps. A mortgage taken on the buildings must be paid off partially before the end of this month. If the money is not forthcoming, the famous Protestant University of Spain, the only Protestant institution of learning in that peninsula, will fall in the hands of the Jesuits," Dr. Goodrich declared.

"The situation in Spain has become aggravated since the advent to power of General Primo de Rivera, president of the military dictatorship. Alfonso, the king, who married an English princess, has always been somewhat tolerant toward Protestantism, but since his visits to the Pope and since Rivera's military coup there has been a reversion in the king's sentiments. He must obey the dictator and Rivera is an ardent Roman Catholic," the speaker said.

Bitterness of Persecution.
"The two million Protestants of Hungary are now living within Rumanian territory through the new boundary alignments sanctioned by the League of Nations. Pastors and members are experiencing the bitterness of persecution. Their salaries have dwindled to a ridiculous extent, so far even that many cannot afford to wear shoes, but wrap their feet in rags. The same applies to Protestant ministers in Poland and some of the Baltic provinces."

"As an instance of Roman aggression I will give you an instance. In the capital of Latvia, which is Riga, there is a great church, formerly it was called the 'Cathedral of Protestantism.' When during the elections some years ago the Catholics came to hold the balance of power in the new parliament of Latvia, the leader of the Catholic party demanded in consideration of his support of the government, the handing over of the cathedral, which had been the center of Protestantism in the Baltic. 'If you do not hand over this church (adv.)

we will smash your government," he told the minister of the interior.

Church of Archbishop.
The result is that the Protestant Cathedral of Riga is now the church of a Roman Catholic archbishop," declared Dr. Goodrich.

Dr. Goodrich said that the Council of Churches held two years ago at Copenhagen, the first gathering of representative Protestant denominations in Europe, the foundation had been laid for a federated work. Leaders of the different denominations had been unanimous in their opinion that if Protestantism is to survive in Europe it is to acquire a Protestant consciousness and a sense of unity. With that end in view there had been created a central bureau, which would cooperate with churches that were in need, the speaker said.

Rev. Gasque of the Episcopal church at the end of Dr. Goodrich's address suggested that the time was ripe for cooperation from American Protestant bodies with the needy churches of Europe.

Praise of the chlorine gas treatment for colds was voiced Monday by Mayor Walter Sims, who was given the gas treatment at Grady hospital Sunday.

"I suffered all last week from a severe cold," the mayor said, "and didn't pay much attention when Steve Johnston, superintendent of Grady hospital, tried to induce me to take the chlorine treatment. However, I was ready to try anything, and after an hour's treatment, I was thoroughly converted."

AMERICAN VICE CONSUL AT BELGRADE IS DEAD

Washington, December 8.—The death of Henry A. Dayton, vice consul at Belgrade, was reported today to the state department.

Mr. Dayton was first reported to have been shot by a young woman, who afterwards committed suicide. No details of the tragedy, however, have been reported by Consul Patton, in charge of the Belgrade post.

Later press advices have tended to throw a veil of mystery over the exact manner in which Dayton was shot, as well as the death of the young woman. Dayton, it was said by the police, was shot from behind.

The state department has sent instructions to Consul Patton to make a complete investigation and report to the department as soon as practicable.

Presumably the body of the vice consul will be returned to the United States for burial. Relatives have been advised of the death and plans will be governed by their wishes.

ATTEMPT TO LULL SEEN BY SPEAKER

extensive military program this nation has ever adopted.

"At the recent meeting of the League of Nations the most far-reaching step which has ever been taken against war was adopted. The nations solemnly declared that aggressive war was an international crime. They severally undertook to be guilty of its commission."

"Our purpose," says the report written by Dr. Benes, of Czechoslovakia, and N. Politiz, of Greece, was to make war impossible—to kill it, to annihilate it. The plan drawn up leaves no loop hole. It prohibits wars of every description and lays down the rule that all disputes shall be settled by pacific means."

"In this protocol for the pacific settlement of international disputes the 47 nations agreed in effect that in the interest of a common civilization, a state or nation would give up its ancient sovereignty in the act of waging war and turn that sovereignty into a common pool of sovereignty. It may be a long time before this plan becomes a reality, but that such a plan could receive the approval of both France and England indicates the great distance which the European nations have come in the past five years looking toward the establishment of peace.

Standpoint of Outsider.

"It is a matter of profound regret to many that the United States, not being a member of the League of Nations, had no part in the discussion of the protocol. The political party which has controlled congress during the past four years determined that no debate on the question of our adherence to the World Court should be permitted. Every act of the league is now discussed by us from the standpoint of an outsider and not as a member. Our criticism of the recent protocol is likely to be hypercritical and hostile, instead of constructive and helpful. Already attempts are being made to discredit it as an anti-American move on the part of the Japanese."

"Last summer I read an editorial in the Kansas City Star on the subject: 'What is the Matter with the Churches?' At that time the national conference of the various denominations were passing the most emphatic resolutions condemning war and many of them advocated the outlawry of war. The 'Star' vigorously defended all the wars in which this country has been engaged and concluded the editorial by severely criticizing the position taken by the churches."

Churches Indignant.

"It is not difficult to understand what is the matter with the churches. They are indignant and rightfully so at the attitude of congress concerning America's relations to international peace. When a buyer is induced to purchase bogus goods he is said to have been bamboozled."

"Now what have the churches and the peace-loving people of America secured since the war as a result of all promises? They have been handed 'Mobilization day.' Later it was rechristened 'Defense day.'"

"Defense is always a safe position for the militarist to assume. But whatever the term used, the purpose of the day is the same—namely, to fix the attention of the nation on war and so to inventory our resources as to the things which we need for conflict. America really is. The churches objected to the plan vigorously and courageously opposed it. For doing so they have been called unpatriotic and pacifist. Many individuals, myself among the number, because I refused to mobilize the Colorado national guard, were sharply criticized by the press."

"It is the duty of the church to wage war against war unrelentingly and courageously. It was General Haug of England who said: 'It is the business of the churches to make war a business as a soldier impossible. How many believers in the Christian religion would be willing to wage such a war against war as would make the business of the soldier impossible? Surely it is most inconsistent to assemble for a disarmament conference one year and establish a national defense day the next year.'

"The democratic party pledged all of its energies to the outlawing of the whole war system. President Coolidge, in his speech of acceptance, said that he favored entering into covenants for the purpose of outlawing aggressive war by any practical means. A durable peace can rest only upon the outlawry of war. At present, nations sanction war. The rules of warfare are agreed upon and then promptly violated when war is waged. War is now as much a matter of international agreement as international trade."

"The movement to outlaw war is comparable to the abolition of slavery and the movement to abolish slavery. Traffic in its appeal to the Christian conscience. Christianity is opposed to compromising with wrong, therefore the outlawry of war as being the only method by which war can be abolished."

"When once aroused, no agency can mould public opinion so forcibly as the church. The church helped mightily to abolish slavery. It helped mightily to achieve national prohibition."

"Once the church thinks straight and unitedly on a moral issue there is a dynamic power in it which cannot be overestimated. It meets weekly; its separate groups are held together by councils, synods, assemblies and conferences—all of them delegated bodies. The church has a virile press of its own. It is a great moral and educational force in the world. The pulpit affords a forum and a platform for the promulgation of great ideals. The Christian conscience of the world can be aroused to make its influence count for the outlawry of war. When the church swings its millions of members and adherents behind this edict the days of war will be numbered."

The ideal for which Woodrow Wilson gave his life cannot die. A lover of peace he hated war. A lover of the human lot of war, he waged it with all his might that the peace might end war. Let no man say that that murder, that crime, that the greatest life that such a world has ever known had just such a fruit."

"With unerring judgment Woodrow Wilson sought to direct the attention of the world to the spirit of Christ as the only power capable of redeeming civilization. He declared that one of the great problems of present-day Protestantism is a closer connection and well organized cooperation between American and European Evangelical churches."

Telling of church federations in Europe that are passing national frontiers, Dr. Keller declares that one of the great problems of present-day Protestantism is a closer connection and well organized cooperation between American and European Evangelical churches."

Move to Outlaw War.

The business committee of the council recommended that Mr. Morrison's resolution to outlaw war be referred to the special committee and urged the committee make a comprehensive report on the move at the next convention next year. Dr. Morrison declared in the resolution that the "institution of the clergyman implicates the church officials in the war system." He recommended that a study of the question of taking such steps as may be necessary and effective to place the service of ministers to the men of both army and navy on a non-military basis, be made."

Another outstanding feature of Monday's session was adoption by the council of the following section of its business committee:

"That the council earnestly requests those who are responsible for the character of motion pictures to refuse the release or use of pictures that reflect on the cardinal virtues, cast inuendoes on morals or religions, or in any way weaken the approved restraint of conscience and personal character, and refer to the commission on church and social service, or such agencies as the administrative committee may determine, measures for making this request effective."

Bryan's Suggestions.

Three steps for abolishing war were proposed to the convention by William Jennings Bryan at the morning session. They are:

The churches should urge an international agreement for the reduction of armament until the armed forces shall only be sufficient for police service.

A referendum on war.

In addition to the world court the establishment of a tribunal which will have power to investigate all disputes but will not have power to decide or enforce decrees.

"The Christian church would be untrue to its mission and commission if it did not lead in the world movement for the establishment of universal and perpetual peace," he said. "It is therefore, in duty bound to employ every means that looks to the abolition of war."

Means to End War.

"These means may be divided into two classes. 'First, the church must seek to cultivate a desire for peace. To begin with, it must be assumed that war is not necessary for it were necessary, wars would be provided for as we provide for other things that are necessary. Being unnecessary, war should be avoided.'"

"To avoid war it is necessary, first, to cultivate a sentiment against war and, second, to devise machinery for the settlement of disputes that have heretofore led to war. 'The will to peace' is one of the happiest phrases so far coined in the interest of peace. The more intense will, the greater the reluctance to resort to the sword and the more intelligent and serious will be the effort to find substitutes for war."

"The surest foundation upon which to build that hostility to war which will finally make it a thing of the past is obedience to the commandment, 'thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Christianity, resting upon the two commandments, love to God and love to fellowman, would be put to shame if any other influence surpassed it either in devotion to peace as an ideal or in effective effort in its behalf."

Love Needs Machinery.

"But even love needs machinery for the carrying out of its benevolent plans, just as machinery is necessary to utilize electrical energy, the weight of the waterfall, and the currents of the air. It is strange that governments that were so quick to provide for war were so slow to construct machinery for peace."

"We need a world court for the settlement of all the questions that can be submitted to arbitration. But these are comparatively few and not of the first importance. All arbitration treaties contain exceptions, and these exceptions cover the really vital questions such as 'honor,' 'independence,' 'vital interests' and 'interests of third parties.'"

"It is necessary, therefore, to create another tribunal which will have power to investigate all disputes, but will not have power to decree or to enforce decrees. Investigations that are not binding may be really more effective in the promotion of peace than binding decrees; first, because they cover the larger questions, and second, because, resting upon their merits rather than upon force, they are more apt to be just. Our nation can afford to join in any and every investigation, provided it reserves the right of independent action when the investigation is completed."

"The abolition of war is impossible so long as there is rivalry in the matter of armament and preparedness for war. The church should, therefore, urge an international agreement for the reduction of armament until the armed forces shall only be sufficient for police service."

"A referendum on war would be one of the most effective means of preserving peace and a referendum is possible, except in case of actual or threatened invasion. If the peace machinery is sufficient for the settlement of every kind and character, either by arbitration or arbitration, probably by investigations that are not binding, people will cease to look to war as necessary."

"The northern branch of the Presbyterian church, at its last general assembly, not only declared in favor of a referendum on war wherever possible, but set forth the reason therefor: 'namely, those who must furnish the blood and bear the burdens imposed by war should, whenever it is possible, be consulted before this supreme sacrifice is required of them.'"

"Drying to conditions in Europe, the American churches for the next fifteen years must assume the major missionary endeavor throughout the world," said Dr. Charles E. Schaeffer, of Philadelphia, secretary of the Board of Home Missions of the Reformed Church in the United States.

In addition, he pointed out the need of American churches to render financial and spiritual aid to tag Protestant churches of a large part of Europe. At the same time he declared that the churches of the United States must avoid fostering American sectarianism upon European Christians."

European Protestant churches want to adopt American methods. The evangelism of all "European countries is an urgent necessity. The financial and spiritual cooperation of American churches is a real need at this time."

So reported the Rev. Adolf Keller, of Zurich, secretary of the central bureau for relief of the Evangelical churches of Europe, and European secretary of the Federal Council of Churches.

Telling of church federations in Europe that are passing national frontiers, Dr. Keller declares that one of the great problems of present-day Protestantism is a closer connection and well organized cooperation between American and European Evangelical churches."

MOTLOW GIVES VERSION OF KILLING CONDUCTOR

St. Louis, December 8.—Lem Motlow, Tennessee distiller, on trial here on a charge of slaying of Conductor Clarence T. Pullis, on a Louisville & Nashville train, today gave his version of the occurrence, contradicting previous testimony of the Rev. Clinton Crowell, a passenger, and asserting that Ed Wallis, a negro porter, had attacked him.

Motlow declared that when he attempted to enter the car the porter insisted "You can't go to bed without a ticket." The distiller said he had shown the conductor his mileage book and the porter had been ordered to recognize it.

"I started to say something," Motlow continued, "and the porter struck me, knocking me back against a window sill. I got up and he grabbed me by the throat and squeezed my neck. I was almost dead, I thought. I reached for my pistol—then some body grabbed my hand from behind and the pistol was accidentally discharged twice." Motlow said he did not remember pulling the trigger.

Admission of an alleged dying statement of Pullis, the slain conductor, that he was shot accidentally, was permitted today. The court ruled H. A. Stillman, train conductor, might testify. Pullis told him in substance:

"The old man was shooting at the porter, and I stepped in and caught the bullet."

The defense sought introduction of the statement for the apparent purpose of scaling down the offense from first degree murder, as charged in the indictment, to second degree murder, or manslaughter, with a view to the possibility of an acquittal.

PROFESSOR'S WIFE KILLS 2 CHILDREN, THEN SLAYS SELF

Salt Lake City, Utah, December 8.—Mrs. Rosemary C. Spurrkman, 28, wife of C. F. Spurrkman, professor of Spanish at the University of Utah, killed her two children and then committed suicide, it became known when neighbors broke in after the family had not been seen since early Saturday. She apparently had chloroformed the children before turning on the gas.

Her husband, who was absent on a business trip, said Mrs. Spurrkman suffered from nervous disorders and was threatened to kill herself. He said she was a cousin of the late Lord Carnarvon, of England, discoverer of the tomb of Tutankhamen in Egypt.

Public hearing on petition of Dr. George Woodard to erect a sanitarium at 321 Washington street will be held at 11 o'clock Thursday morning in the mayor's office, according to Alderman R. A. Gordon, chairman of the hospitals and charities committee.

A permit was granted Dr. Woodard by city council when his petition was not opposed, but was revoked and referred back to the hospitals and charities committee when a delegation of Second ward citizens recently filed objections.

UNDERWOOD AMENDS HIS SHOALS BILL

time is extended to the third year, advancing to 20,000 tons in the fourth year, 30,000 in the fifth year, and 40,000 annually thereafter. Senator Underwood explained that construction of a fertilizer plant would require about two years.

Lease Time Extended.

The time for the leasing of the plant by the secretary of war also would be extended from next July 1 to next September 1.

With reference to a war department objection that the cyanamide process could not be used by the lessee, Senator Underwood said the judge advocate general of the army had settled that question in an opinion on the Ford bid, holding that contract of the government with the American Cyanamide company provided for use of patents by either the government or the lessee.

Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, offered an amendment to strike out the provision giving the secretary of war the right to lease the plants. Such a scheme, he declared, too great unification of control.

Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, introduced a Copeland amendment. He intended offering a separate bill, Senator Smith said, to accomplish the same purpose.

Harris Offers Amendments.

Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, introduced several amendments to the Underwood bill, one of which would empower the secretary of agriculture to determine the "fair and equitable territorial distribution" of the fertilizer products and determine whether the profit charged is in excess of 8 per cent. Another would substitute the following for section 10:

"Nothing in this act shall prevent the surplus power not required under the terms of this act for the manufacture of nitrogen or fertilizer from being sold at rate lower than that being charged by other companies, individuals or corporations. In the distribution of this surplus power, no discrimination shall be made in favor of any territory."

On Page 16, at the end of line 16, Senator Harris would add this new section:

Would Add New Section.

"Section 12: The secretary of war shall have no power or authority under this act to lease the whole or any part of said property to the Alabama Power company, or to any person, company, corporation owning or operating a water power plant, the sale of the current from which would come in competition with the sale of the current or power generated or produced at the Muscle Shoals plant or any addition thereto or to any person, company or corporation engaged in the manufacture of commercial fertilizer whose products would be sold in competition to those produced at said Muscle Shoals plant, or to any person, company or corporation where any of the stockholders financially interested in any such person, company or corporation made ineligible by the provisions of this section from becoming a lessee of this property."

Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, introduced two amendments to the Underwood bill giving authority to government agents to go over the accounts of the operating company, and would place the company under the supervision of the state regulatory agencies.

KING OF JOKERS DIES IN NEW YORK

hauteur. The annual cat show, then a really big social event, was about to be held. Hughes entered his alley cat under the name of Nicodemus, after scrubbing him, polishing his fur and manning him to the show. Hughes described Nicodemus as a Dublin brindle, wore a long polka-dot for him, and in a wild cat, buried deep in hot-house flowers, shipped him to the show. Lived four days daily to feed Nicodemus his ice cream and breast of chicken. A sign on the cage briefly described the world that Nicodemus cost $1,000.

When the judges gave Nicodemus the blue ribbon over all the petted beauties of the local 400, they asked Hughes where Nick should be shipped. "Turn him loose," said Hughes. "He's an alley cat and knows how to take care of himself."

Some of Many Pranks.

Earlier, coming here as a boy from Canada, Hughes had made money by selling sparrows and other twelfth birds, which he caught and painted yellow, as canaries. He gave friends iron cigars or umbrellas labeled "stolen from Brian G. Hughes." He bought countless old desks for a song and discovered huge treasures in secret drawers. In many tumble-down shacks he gave to the world a former shelter of Washington, Lafayette, Garibaldi or Jenny Lind.

Frequently he discovered pirate treasure. He almost duplicated his alley cat feat at the Horse show, and probably would have won first prize with an old plug if someone hadn't remembered that cat show incident. He secured great publicity for three months as the donor of a great park to the city, which finally turned out to contain but 12 square feet, and once he had half of the state register at the Waldorf-Astoria to see him present a popular actress in the order of St. Catherine of Mount Sinai from the Prince of Amalaim, Cyprus and Aragon."

Hughes leaves no successor as America's king of jokers. He had outlived his usefulness when he had established that title with everybody so notoriously that he couldn't put over any more big hoaxes.

About 300 breach of promise suits a year are tried in the English courts, and in about 85 per cent of such cases the women obtain damages.

Which will succeed?

WHICH will succeed? The man who spends all his precious reading time with the daily paper? Or the other, who is gaining little by little, in a few delightful minutes each day, that knowledge of a few truly great books which will distinguish him always as a really well-read man? What are the few great books — biographies, histories, novels, dramas, poems, books of science and travel, philosophy and religion — that picture the progress of civilization?

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, from his lifetime of reading, study and teaching, forty years of it as president of Harvard University, has answered that question in a free booklet that you can have for the asking. In it are described the contents, plan and purpose of

SEABOARD SEEKS TO ENJOIN STATE

A suit in equity, similar to a suit filed on November 11 by the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, was filed in federal district court here Monday by the Seaboard Air Line railroad, in which it questioned the constitutionality of the act on the grounds that the jurisdiction of such matters is taken by the congress in the federal boiler and inspection act; that it is impossible for the railroad to equip its engines with the automatic doors by January 1, when the act is to become effective; that it is a burden upon interstate commerce and in violation of the commerce clause of the constitution empowering congress to regulate commerce between states and foreign countries.

Since this is a case involving a constitutional point it, along with the Atlantic Coast Line suit, will have to be heard before a federal three-judge tribunal, court attaches say.

The railroad seeks to enjoin Attorney General Napier, of Georgia, and all the solicitors general in the territories through which its road passes, from enforcing provisions of the act.

It further seeks to have defendants restrained from bringing prosecution or other legal procedure or suit for violation of the act, and prays that the act be declared null and void. Complaints attack the constitutionality of the act on the grounds that the jurisdiction of such matters is taken by the congress in the federal boiler and inspection act; that it is impossible for the railroad to equip its engines with the automatic doors by January 1, when the act is to become effective; that it is a burden upon interstate commerce and in violation of the commerce clause of the constitution empowering congress to regulate commerce between states and foreign countries.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD IS FACING BUSY WEEK

The docket of the Georgia public service commission for this week includes several hearings of more than customary interest.

Petition from the Seaboard Air Line railroad for discontinuance of its agency at Pearl will be heard today.

Hearing also will be given today on a rule nisi to all Georgia carriers on rates on canned goods between points in Georgia.

The commission recently issued an order, effective November 1, setting rates on these goods and ordering that rates between Georgia points should not be greater than that between interstate points of the same or less distance.

Complaints have been received that this rule is being violated, the commission issued a new order putting the old rates back in force. Now the roads are to show cause why they should not comply with the original order.

The Athens Street Railway company asks for a change in street car fares.

The present fare is 10c and the company is asking a straight 10c cash fare, with tickets at the rate of two for 15c, and a weekly, transferable pass for $1.

The Athens street car fare case will be heard today as will be a petition from the Columbus Electric and Power company for permission to issue $2,000,000 in first and refunding mortgage bonds and $2,000,000 in gold notes, proceeds to be used for improvements and extensions of service.

The A. B. & A. railroad will be given a hearing on its petition to discontinue its spur track at Munson.

The Georgia & Florida railway petition for schedule changes and discontinuance of several trains will be argued Wednesday and this will be followed by a hearing granted citizens of Aiken station who are protesting against elimination of that stop on the interurban line of the Atlanta & Northern railway between Atlanta and Marietta.

The Macon Railway & Light company Thursday will plead its petition to be allowed to adopt the continuous billing system. The Macon Gas company will be heard at the same time on a similar petition.

The Valdosta Lighting company is asking permission to issue $71,000 in refunding mortgage bonds, and this case, with a hearing on general classification docket No. 7, will conclude the docket for the week.

All profits derived from Atlanta sales over and above expense of the seals will be turned into the Community Chest fund, according to Miss Dickinson.

"Twenty years ago the first Christmas seal was sold in Denmark to secure funds for financing the tubercular sanatorium for children in that country," said Miss Dickinson. "It was the origin of the idea. The originator was a Danish postmaster who visited Atlanta last May. The idea now has been around the world, and the Christmas seals of the Anti-Tuberculosis workers has become a part of Christmas. Through the sale of these seals in former years, millions of dollars have been collected for carrying on the fight against tuberculosis."

While interruptions were frequent between 4:30 o'clock and 5:20 o'clock, the lights sometimes growing dimmer and then flaring to their normal power, and on some occasion going completely out, none of the interruptions lasted over a period of five minutes, officials of the company stated.

The trouble in the cable started at 4:30 o'clock when the 2,300-volt bus at the Walton street sub-station was burned in half and fell on some other material. The only areas affected by the trouble, officials state, was that in which the alternating current underground service is used. Users of the direct current were not affected.

Miss Aline Callaway, 24 Delaware avenue, received severe injuries Saturday afternoon at Daytona Beach, Fla., when struck on the head by the propeller of a commercial airplane in which she had been a passenger, according to information received here Monday.

Miss Callaway, who is employed by a local insurance firm, went with her mother about ten days ago to DeLand, Fla., for a vacation trip.

According to dispatches, Miss Callaway, after completing the flight, was struck by the propeller when she walked in front of the plane. She was in an unconscious condition Sunday night and her condition was regarded as grave. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Callaway.

CHEST SUBSCRIBERS TO GET XMAS SEALS

The Christmas seal campaign of the Anti-Tuberculosis association is meeting with success all over Georgia, according to Miss Mary Dickinson, executive secretary.

In Atlanta, where the Anti-Tuberculosis association is a member of the Community Chest, no effort to sell the seals to the general public will be made, according to Miss Dickinson.

"Twenty-five cents' worth of the seals will be mailed to every contributor to the Chest for 1925, as enclosures with the Community Chest's own certificate of membership which will be sent this week to all persons who gave in recent campaign," said Miss Dickinson.

"Chest contributors may wish more than the 25 seals, however, and people who have not yet contributed to the Chest may wish a supply. In either of these cases, those who desire seals may secure all they wish by telephoning the Anti-Tuberculosis association at 23 East Cain street, Ivy 0079."

All profits derived from Atlanta sales over and above expense of the seals will be turned into the Community Chest fund, according to Miss Dickinson.

Heavy Rainfall To Be Succeeded By Fair Weather

After a rainfall which exceeded an inch and a half for the 24 hours on Monday, Atlanta is scheduled for fair weather today, with a considerably lower temperature, according to the local office of the U. S. weather bureau, C. F. von Herrmann in charge.

The temperature Monday started the day at 62 degrees. It steadily mounted until eleven o'clock, when the thermometer read 69 degrees. A high wind during the next hour, however, brought a sudden drop, making the noon reading only 59.

It is probable that the fair weather due today will continue until the latter part of the week when more rains are expected. Rainfall Monday was general all over the country, while temperatures were quite high through the south, but a cold wave was reported from the northwest. It will be considerably colder in the south during the middle of the week.

Salary increases for practically all members of the Carnegie library staff, voted by city council last week, Monday were vetoed by Mayor Walter Sims. Increases were on a sliding scale, and called for a total of $1,200 a year for the next four years.

In disapproving the paper, the mayor stated that he does not oppose granting the pay hikes, but vetoed them on the same grounds that he did increases for policemen and firemen—that he was unable to see from what source necessary revenue would be received.

Several council members requested that the paper be returned for further consideration at the same time pay increases for firemen, policemen and other city employees are considered again.

The state advisory board to the geological survey will hold its regular quarterly meeting in the office of the state geologist at the capital Wednesday. At this time an interesting report is to be read by Dr. S. W. McCallie, state geologist, showing the increase in value of mineral resources of the state and also showing for the first time the total capacity of power production of water-power plants in Georgia.

SHIPPING BOARD PROBE CONTINUED

Washington, December 8.—The special house committee investigating the shipping board and its subsidiaries today resumed examination of witnesses for the first time since last July.

James W. Boring, advertising manager of the Emergency Fleet corporation, occupied the stand throughout the session. He testified that editorial support of the ship subsidy plan by a newspaper had nothing whatever to do with the placing of advertising contracts, and explained the method followed by the corporation in attempting to check the results of its advertising.

The corporation, he said, for several months met the deficits incidental to starting publication of the Oceanic edition of the Chicago Tribune, but now paid the Tribune company a flat rate of $500 for each vessel on which the paper was issued. Showing of motion pictures on vessels of the corporation, he asserted, was taken up in an effort to make passage as attractive as possible in view of reports that some people avoided the vessels because they were "dry."

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified cod liver oil that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

Johnson and Le Roux To Pilot Auto Association

T. K. Johnson, manager of the Atlanta branch of the Olds Motor works, was elected president for the ensuing year, and Chas. M. LeRoux, manager of the Atlanta branch of Willys-Overland, Inc., first vice-president, at a meeting of Atlanta automotive dealers and allied trades at the Capital City club Monday night.

Mr. Johnson has been identified with the local auto industry for the past nine years. During this time he has served in the capacity of sales or branch executive. For the past year he has been in charge of the southeastern branch in Atlanta for the past two years.

The two new officials were elected unanimously on the first ballot, which in the opinion of Executive Secretary C. V. Hohenstein, is sufficient evidence of their popularity, their standing in the industry, and their qualifications for the important posts to which they have been elected.

Other Officers Named.
J. M. Becker, of the Joe W. Goldsmith, dr. Grant company, was elected secretary, and Sam Levy, of the Prior Tire company; Glenn Ryman, of the American Discount company; B. V. Stodghill, of the John Smith company, and E. G. Beaudry, of the Beaudry Motor company, were named directors.

The following automatically took place on the board of directors because of positions held by them in the Automotive Equipment association: R. N. Reed, of the Reed Tire company, who was named second vice president; Charley Dolbs, of the Dolbs Tire company, and F. M. Brandes, of the Battery Sales company.

Annual Frolic.
Following the business session, at which Secretary Hohenstein recited accomplishments of the association for the past year and outlined phases of work to be undertaken during the coming year, the meeting was turned into the usual annual frolic.

Vocal, instrumental and dancing artists, selected and stage managed by Fat Elrod presented a most enjoyable program. Vick Meyers Melody Artists provided music for the occasion. Jimmy Finley, Bob Cobb, Vance Hunter, Jack McClain and Clyde Sparks were among the musical performers of note.

The band of the Beaudry Motor company and the Georgia Railway and Power company quartet each did its part for the entertainment. Big LeRoy, accompanied by Signor Volpi, Lila Buchanan, Dot Keelin, Dorris Cornwell, Frances Porter, Catherine Jones and other female artists, were among those on Fat Elrod's program, entitled "A Night in Bohemia."

Morris Tappan, buck and wing dancer, and Miss Harriett Jones proved that the entertaining abilities of the juvenile is more than worthy of consideration.

BLAME ILL HEALTH AS DR. A. P. BARNES TAKES OWN LIFE

Walterboro, S. C., December 8.—The town was shocked at the news of the death of Dr. Albert Parker Barnes, which occurred just after midnight this morning. Dr. Barnes had been in ill health for several months and in a moment of extreme despondency over his condition, ended his own life.

He was born in Walterboro in 1880, and was the son of the late Albert Parker Barnes, of Wilson, N. C., and Susan Howell Barnes, who was a sister of the late M. P. Howell. Dr. Barnes was graduated from the South Carolina Military academy in 1903, and at the Charleston College of Pharmacy in 1906.

Nations Unite To Proclaim Their Confidence in League

Austen Chamberlain Goes
Out of Way to Dispel Impression of British Lukewarmness.

Rome, December 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Vigorously proclaimed confidence in the League of Nations as a potent force for world peace and human happiness was the dominant note at the meeting today of the 32d session of the council of the League of Nations, which auspiciously began its deliberations in Doria palace, famed for its treasures of art.

The necessity of this new insistence on the league's usefulness was undoubtedly occasioned by Great Britain's recent request for postponement of consideration of the question of the Geneva peace protocol, and arrangements for a conference on disarmament, and by the ensuing impression permeating some quarters that England was growing cold on the league.

Chamberlain Corrects Impression.
Austen Chamberlain, British secretary for foreign affairs, plainly went out of his way today to dispel any such impression. He explained at what inconvenience to the British cabinet and parliament he had come to Rome, but said that the government and people, and even the opposition, favored his journey, because all wished to show respect for the league and their high sense of the value of the things which the league has achieved and the high hopes entertained for the league's future success.

Signor Salandra for Italy, and Afrence Mellofranco, of Brazil, as president of the council, also emphasized the increasingly important role the league is filling as a mechanism for the amelioration of world conditions.

Protocol Much Alive.
As for the protocol for the pacific settlement of disputes, there was a very earnest strain running through the private comment of all the members of the council on Great Britain's suggestion for a postponement. It indicated that the protocol was very much alive and is likely to continue to live. Dr. Pones, of Czechoslovakia, said to the Associated Press correspondent:

"The protocol has been signed by 16 states and is being examined by all the states members of the league. Tomorrow we hope to define the exact status of the protocol."

and the arrangements for the disarmament conference by a series of declarations. Personally, I never thought the conference would be held next year, and I am glad that more time will be afforded for the preliminaries.

Meanwhile, on a matter of peculiar American interest, the council decided to appoint a special committee of 15 world jurists to inaugurate on a vast scope the study and codification of international law. President Coolidge's name was prominently brought into the discussion of this subject, when the Swedish foreign minister, M. Unden, emphasized that the president had recently recommended such codification.

It apparently is assumed in league circles that President Coolidge, with out mentioning the Geneva organization, favors its initiative in the realm of international law. An American jurist, whose name has not been announced, will sit with the committee, which will include representatives of all the main world legal systems.

TWO MEN INJURED
AS TRUCK CRASHES
THROUGH BRIDGE

Athens, Ga., December 8.—Two men were hurt when a truck on which they were riding crashed through a bridge five miles from Danielsville between Ryston and Danielsville early tonight.

The men are C. H. Olson and F. A. Voytko, of Akron, Ohio. They were not injured seriously.

The men were in a fleet of automobiles en route to Tampa, Fla. The wreck occurred on the state highway, route eight. Thirteen cars were in the fleet.

M. D. Scott, manager of the party, stated tonight the men were hemmed in the state's angry's being minutes until they could break the glass and crawl through. The truck fell several feet to the water.

"Maud" Boasting Cotton Mill Men Glistening Paws; Here To Inspect Pity Manicurist Georgia Plants

If a human being can literally swell up with pride, "Maud," Atlanta's own elephant, must have exploded with egotism Monday.

And when the eat gone rapped at night, Maudie's paws glistened like the searchlight of a hot revenue-cutter, looking for a gang of camel-chasers, as she inhaled her peanut casserole and gargled her aqua demi tasse.

For five weary and unmerciful years of zoological existence at Grant park, Maud accumulated finger nails. Finally it was decided that if Maud ever lost her temper, she might cut up a few gentlemen for supper by merely pointing at them.

So and whereupon, L. L. Wallis, general manager of city parks, decided that it was time for Maudie to hold open house to some official manicurists.

And on Monday, ably assisted in the task by J. R. Armistead, superintendent of Grant park—Maudie's domicile—Maudie got her first manicure in a half a decade.

"Doctor" Armistead sharpened up a hacksaw and, flanked by huge file, he went to work alongside "Doctor" Wallis, who superintended the operation.

In all, more than five inches of finger and toe nails bit the dust. "Bill," the negro chaplain of Maudie, guarded the animal's trunk and shooed flies.

And Maudie is a monument of pride, with glorified curcles.

COOLIDGE INCLINED TO CUT BUTLER LEAVE

Washington, December 8.—President Coolidge is inclined to refuse a further leave of absence for Brigadier General Butler, serving as director of public safety at Philadelphia, but will reach no definite decision until after further conference with Secretary "Ibbs."

Will Explain Request.
At the meeting of the council tomorrow morning, Mr. Chamberlain will explain just why his government has requested more time, but it is understood he will not enter into any discussion of the merits or demerits of the protocol.

Meanwhile, on a matter of peculiar American interest, the council decided to appoint a special committee of 15 world jurists to inaugurate on a vast scope the study and codification of international law. President Coolidge's name was prominently brought into the discussion of this subject, when the Swedish foreign minister, M. # GENE TUNNEY KNOCKS SMITH DOWN FOR FIRST TIME

American Champ Shows Way in No-Decision Bout; Blows Make Smith Dizzy

New Orleans, December 8.—Gene Tunney, of New York, American light-heavyweight champion, had all the better of his 15-round no-decision match here tonight with Jeff Smith, of Bayonne, N. J.

For the first time in a career extending over 14 years of fighting in nearly every country on the globe, Smith was knocked down when he sank to the canvas in the 12th round before wicked left-hand punches to the ribs.

The blows seemed to make Smith weak and dizzy and the first knock-down soon was followed by another serious one when Smith sank to the canvas and barely was on his feet at the count of "nine."

Tunney appeared to have the advantage in eleven of the fifteen rounds, while two were Smith's and two about even.

Smith weighed 166 1/2 pounds and Tunney 179.

Round One. Smith was careful in the first round. He walked in on Tunney and landed a left hook to the body and brought a cheer from the crowd when he smashed a hard left to the champion's head. Tunney got in a right and left jab to the body and landed a light cross to the jaw. Smith ducked cleverly, however, and made the big fellow miss many blows.

Round Two. Tunney opened up the second round by getting a few light rights and lefts to Smith's face, but again missed many blows. Gene apparently was afraid of Smith's left in the break-away and held tightly.

Round Three. Smith sped up in this round and Tunney welcomed the open fighting, landed a hard right to Smith's head. Smith missed a couple of wicked blows, but he also made the champion miss many. Tunney danced around and seemed determined to keep all the fighting at long range.

Round Four. Smith started the fourth by socking hard left hooks to the body and head, but had to cover quickly as Tunney began landing blows on his protecting elbows and gloves. Tunney succeeded in getting a few rights and lefts to Smith's face.

Round Five. Smith landed a hard right to Tunney's head. Tunney started to jig around, keeping out of the way and made Smith miss a murderous left. Tunney landed a few light punches, but the round was Smith's most effective at the fight to the end.

Round Six. Smith landed a hard right to Tunney's head. Tunney started to jig around, keeping out of the way and made Smith miss a murderous left. Tunney landed a few light punches, but the round was Smith's most effective at the fight to the end.

Round Seven. Smith landed a hard right to Tunney's head. Tunney started to jig around, keeping out of the way and made Smith miss a murderous left. Tunney landed a few light punches, but the round was Smith's most effective at the fight to the end.

Round Eight. Smith landed a hard right to Tunney's head. Tunney started to jig around, keeping out of the way and made Smith miss a murderous left. Tunney landed a few light punches, but the round was Smith's most effective at the fight to the end.

Round Nine. Smith landed a hard right to Tunney's head. Tunney started to jig around, keeping out of the way and made Smith miss a murderous left. Tunney landed a few light punches, but the round was Smith's most effective at the fight to the end.

Round Ten. Smith landed a hard right to Tunney's head. Tunney started to jig around, keeping out of the way and made Smith miss a murderous left. Tunney landed a few light punches, but the round was Smith's most effective at the fight to the end.

Round Eleven. Smith landed a hard right to Tunney's head. Tunney started to jig around, keeping out of the way and made Smith miss a murderous left. Tunney landed a few light punches, but the round was Smith's most effective at the fight to the end.

QUICK, BOY, PAGE THE TWIN EDITOR

Lewisburg, Pa., December 8.—Merle and Earl Goodwin, twin sophomores at Bucknell university and football players, are so much alike that even teammates cannot distinguish them, it has just been revealed. During the Bucknell-Rutgers football game at Philadelphia, Merle, star punter, was credited with all the punts.

The coach, "Uncle Charlie" Moran, congratulated Merle on his excellent punting but Merle confessed that with an injured leg he had called Earl several times into the punting position and played his brother's end, a position with no one any the wiser.

Around the campus in order to avoid mistakes everyone calls them "Goody" singly or together for their dress, walk and even talk alike.

him with a left hook. Fighting harder, Gene scored repeatedly to Smith's face, jumping backward to avoid Smith's return blow.

Round Twelve. Smith landed a hard left to the body and a right to the head. Tunney landed a right uppercut to Smith's chin which dazed him. He then ripped a left to Smith's ribs and Smith lay over on the ropes. He got up and Tunney was on him like a tiger, sending a hard left to the body again. Smith went down, doubled up and took the count of nine.

Round Thirteen. Smith came from his corner fairly strong but was strictly on the defensive on the ropes. He tried time to time to cover his side to keep Tunney's left hook from finding its way to his ribs. Smith was getting weak and though he protected himself well, it was plain he was in dire straits.

Round Fourteen. Tunney confined his efforts to trying to drop Smith again with a left to the ribs. He had ripped a cut in Smith's body from wicked blows and landing more of them kept Smith in a bad way. Smith sent in several hard punches to the champion's body as the round ended.

Round Fifteen. Smith came out fighting strong, landing a hard right to Tunney's head. He had a right to the body. Gene appeared tired from his previous efforts. Smith landed several heavy rights and lefts to the body, but the blows did not bother the champion, who was fighting back strong at the bell.

The first preliminary brought together two Biloxi, Miss., boys, Tut Seymour, 149 pounds, and Moran, 152 for four rounds. Moran was awarded the decision.

Jack Griffin 130 pounds, won the decision over Dunder, 132, in the second preliminary, a six-round affair. Both men are from New Orleans.

"Big Boy" Peterson, of Kila, Miss., and Lou Hill of New Orleans, fought a draw in the six round semi-final. Peterson weighed 184 1/2 and Hill 176 pounds.

Columbus, Ga., December 8.—"Mystery woman," who by her strange conduct has baffled local authorities since she was found on the streets on November 8, last, and identified as Miss Mary Smith, 37, of Danville, N. C., according to police. The girl's identity was established by communication with relatives, whose names she furnished police. A telegram was received here today announcing that a brother-in-law is en route to Columbus to take her back home.

In a recent statement the mystery patient at a local hospital told of having worked until October 24, at Elyria, N. Y., hotel. Several days she suffered from a severe headache and she said she has no recollection of happenings after October 24, when she was still in Elyria. Her memory was restored at the local institution about a week ago, she says.

Following her statement, police communicated with persons whose names she gave as her relatives and found that her mother is Mrs. Margaret Smith, of Danville.

When found on the streets here a month ago by police, the girl was almost numb with cold. She was detained at the police station for a day and authorities unable to get her to talk, called a physician. After an examination she was sent to the hospital.

For days hospital attendants forced her to take nourishment through tubes. She began eating of her own accord, and since that time has improved. The patient baffled police for many days by her refusal to talk.

BISHOP ACCUSED OF TAKING FUNDS GIVEN TO CHARITY

Copenhagen, December 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Rev. Dr. Anthon, Bishop of Scandinavia, was arrested here tonight on a charge of misappropriation of charity funds. He will be given a hearing in court tomorrow morning.

The charge was made by the Rev. Mr. Ingervik, head of the Great Central Mission organization, and certain Methodists who had been dissatisfied with the alleged activities of Dr. Bast.

For more than a year there had been rumors of the bishop's alleged misusing his own interests in the collection for charity through the central mission organization and Mr. Ingervik, who arrived in Denmark two years ago after training in the United States, and the dissatisfied Danish Methodists started a campaign against Dr. Bast.

STEAMER IN DISTRESS OFF MEXICAN COAST

Los Angeles, December 8.—Radio messages to the Federal Telegraph company here tonight reported the Mexican steamer Oaxaca on fire 40 miles south of Mazatlan on the west coast of Mexico. The ship is in no immediate danger, however, the message said.

THE ATHLETIC board of the University of Georgia made three announcements of more than passing interest to the waiting world following the meeting yesterday afternoon at Athens. The first was the approval of a proposal to erect a modern concrete athletic stadium; the second was the retention of "Kid" Woodruff as mentor of the Bulldogs next season, and the third was the complete grid schedule for next season.

Athens is proud of the institution in her midst and the new stadium will yearly be filled with thousands of fans who will journey to the classic city to see the Bulldogs in action. The team to be entertained on Athens soil next season are Virginia and Vanderbilt. If the stadium is completed in time for these games, it will be a credit to the university, to Athens and to the state of Georgia.

"KID" WOODRUFF's thousands of friends and admirers welcome the news that he will again hold the reins of the Red and Black. He and his assistants have developed a flashy aggregation which fascinated the eyes of all football fans. The heroic stand against the famous Yale crew in the bowl was enough to win everlasting fame for the 1924 team, even though it crumbled and went stale in the Alabama game.

Schedule makers at the university offer a very enticing menu for the coming season. The curtain-raiser is to be staged in Macon, instead of Athens, as heretofore. Centre and South Carolina are missing from the list of opponents, but there is the big game, the one we have longed for, the game of November 14—Georgia versus Tech! We've known they were going to play for some time now, but it looks mighty good to see it in print. It would be hard to find a setup on the list, too, unless it's Mercer, and how can you call a team that licked Florida a setup?

WHEN "TUBBY" WALTON carried his demon All-Stars out to the federal prison Sunday to engage the "guests of Uncle Sam" in gridiron combat, a pathetic situation presented itself. Pat Beacon, former Penn State star, who was playing with the Walton team, came face to face with a former Yale player whom he had opposed when both were college stars. Neither knew where the other was. Your imagination will supply the emotions of the former eastern stars when they met under these conditions down south.

Humor was also furnished in connection with the game Sunday. A large crowd of football fans followed the All-Stars to the prison for the game, and thoroughly enjoyed the occasion until time came to leave. Visitors at the federal institution are counted every time they turn around and the officials counted three more at the exit than had entered. We still have a picture of the handsome countenance of Billy McGowan, sheik of the Kimball house, and the grinning beam of "Ikey" Jenkins peering through the prison bars. They were released after a couple of hours of counting, however.

"TO ERR IS HUMAN" but for once we are glad we were not endowed too humanly. When Tech and Georgia met in a cross-country run Saturday, The Constitution went to bed positively proclaiming to the world and all others interested that the University of Georgia won the meet by one point. But, lo and behold! the next day we glanced at an afternoon paper and saw where Tech had won. We dashed over and purchased a copy of the other afternoon sheet and sure enough—there it was in black and white that Tech had won.

Coach Griffin or any of the other track officials at Tech could not be reached on the phone. We spent a night on needles and pins so to speak. Surely, we thought, with two against one, we are in for a good lecture when the boss notes the error. But corrections in both afternoon papers yesterday afternoon relieved a frantic mind and made us proud to boast of inhuman qualities, a few at least.

NOTE—Who knows but that there is a glaring bone somewhere on this sheet today? We might be more human than we think. What's the use, anyway?

TY COBB'S LIFE STORY

Chapter XVI.—His Pitching Choice—What Ed Walsh Thinks—What Records Show.

BY H. G. SALSINGER.

Ed Walsh was, in the opinion of Tyus Raymond Cobb, the greatest pitcher the American league ever produced.

This opinion conflicts with a belief that is almost unanimous and which places Walter Johnson as the kingpin of American league twirlers.

Cobb, in explaining his preference, says: "Take the best five years of Walsh's pitching career and the best five of Johnson's and you will find the edge with Walsh."

"What pitcher ever did as much work as Walsh in modern baseball? He pitched his arm away, working in about one-half the games his team played."

"Johnson's record looks the more impressive. Of course, it does. Look at the number of years he pitched. He pitched for 17 years. Here's one thing you've got to remember about Walsh: He had to win his own games. He had to win them alone. Johnson always had some help, but Walsh had next to nothing."

Worse Than Washington.

"Walsh pitched for a team that had such little batting strength that it was called 'Hitless wonders.' You will say that Johnson pitched for a team that had little more. That is true, but still they had more batting strength than Walsh's Chicago team."

"But, there is one thing that you overlook. Johnson did always have a good fielding team behind him and Walsh never did. Walsh pitched before one of the poorest fielding teams I ever saw in the major leagues. His infield was a sieve and his outfield—well, it was the poorest in the American league; the poorest I ever saw."

"There never lived a pitcher who could work the way Walsh did. Look at Walsh going in as relief pitcher, which he often did three and four days in succession. I have seen Walsh strut from the bull pen with bases filled and none out and three batters coming up and not one of three reaching first base. Walsh struck them out in a row. I never saw a pitcher who could so completely, thoroughly and quickly subdue a team as Walsh. He ended batting rallies quicker than any man that ever pitched."

One day we asked Walsh whom he regarded as the greatest batter that ever faced him and Walsh replied without hesitating the fraction of a second:

"Larry Lajoie. That Frenchman is the greatest hitter that ever lived. He was one batter that put fear into my heart. Boy, how he could hit that ball! Get it anywhere near to where he liked it and you were gone. That baby had the old power behind his swing. When the Frenchman hit 'em they shot through or over. He was a tough bird to pitch past. He had a great eye. He could hit."

Walsh was asked whether he did not consider Cobb a better batter than Lajoie. And Walsh replied: "I do not. I think Lajoie the greatest hitter that ever lived. He was an honest-to-goodness natural hitter. He earned everything he got. Cobb was more of a trick hitter. He never impressed me the way Lajoie did."

"In one game I struck out Cobb three times. He did not get a foul off me. And I struck him out on nothing but fast balls. You see, Cobb was up there looking for the spit ball. I figured he was doing that. I shot a fast one by him. Cobb let it go, thinking it was the spit ball. He figured he'd keep looking for the spit ball and throwing by the fast one. Yes, sir, he fanned three times, on nothing but fast balls."

But—Ah!—The Records.

Still, the baseball record books do not show that Cobb proved an easy mark for Walsh as a rule. He opposed him in 30 games. Cobb batted 119 times against Walsh, a fair test. His average was .283. He made 40 hits off Walsh in the 119 times at bat.

ATLANTA BOY WINS ON FOUL

Miami, Fla., December 8.—Mike Murphy, of Atlanta, was awarded a decision on a foul over Barney Adair, of New York, in the sixth round of their scheduled ten-round bout here tonight, when Adair knocked Murphy and under, with a back-pivot punch, Adair had a shade the best of it up to the time of the foul. Murphy weighed 148 pounds and Adair 152.

Jimmy Murry, of Atlantic City, won from Manny Owens, of Buffalo, N. Y., by a technical knockout in the third round of their scheduled ten-round bout when the referee halted the scrap in the third round to save Owens from further punishment.

Frankie Nanci, of Miami, outpointed Joe Masse, of New York, in a ten-round bout.

S. S. OFFICIALS DRAFTING SCHEDULE

With 28 teams definitely entered in the Sunday School Athletic association, the association has begun its most important meetings last night at the central Y. M. C. A. at 6:30 o'clock.

There will be either six or seven leagues of six teams each, according to President Coolidge, of the association, but the schedule committee will decide just what disposition will be made of the teams as the players are divided into three different classes, one 140 pounds and under, one 150 pounds and under, with the other class sponsoring players over 150 pounds.

There are more than 350 players entered in the association to take part in the coming basketball season and the association is working to enlist many more by spring.

The schedule committee, composed of Charles Robinson, of the Central Baptist church; Charles Vittur, of the Gordon Street Presbyterian church, and Fred Minor, of Grant Park Baptist, will meet immediately and begin drafting the schedules for the 1925-1926 season. The schedules will be announced within the next week.

The playing season will start Tuesday night, December 16, and end with the tournament early in March.

The games will be played two nights each week on Tuesday and Saturday nights on both of the courts in the central Y. M. C. A. Playing will start at 6:30 o'clock and last until nearly midnight, with the games being sandwiched. There will be two 15 minute halves instead of the regular 20-minute half.

The association attempted to get another court to play the games on, but plan fell short when no suitable court could be found. It is planned to use another court after January 1, and rush the schedules to completion.

Oil Industry Leaders Gather for Meeting Of Annual Institute

Fort Worth, Texas, December 8.—Persons widely known in the oil industry today continued to arrive here for the fifth annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute, which will begin its first general session tomorrow.

"It is a much larger meeting than that at St. Louis last year," was the comment of Thomas A. O'Donnell, president of the organization. Estimates were that incoming trains today brought approximately 2,000 persons with the probability that as many more would come tomorrow and bring the attendance probably to 3,000 or 4,000.

Preliminary to the general meeting tomorrow various committee meetings will be held. The institute's committee on education and public relations today formulated recommendations to the board of directors as to what if anything the petroleum industry, as an industry, can do to tell the people the true story of the business.

Coach Woodruff Retained As Football Mentor; Schedule Is Announced

Athens, Ga., December 8.—At the annual meeting of the athletic board of the University of Georgia held this afternoon, plans were approved for the proposal to erect a modern stadium or bowl here to care for Georgia's outdoor sports.

The matter was referred to the executive committee which is composed of C. M. Snelling, dean of the university, as chairman, Hugh M. Gordon, Jr., A. G. Dudley and Dr. S. V. Sanford. The committee was given power to act on the project.

Coach George C. Woodruff was re-elected head coach of football. Tonight the members of the board, will decide whether Sanford Field will be enlarged with a stadium effect or whether a new site will be selected. According to the approved plans, it is proposed to erect a stadium that will have a seating capacity of between 20,000 and 25,000.

Schedule Announced. Dr. S. V. Sanford, faculty chairman of the University of Georgia's athletic board, this afternoon announced the 1925 Bulldog football schedule, which is as follows:

SIXTEEN PETRELS TO GET GOLD FOOTBALLS TONIGHT

Major Leagues Expected To Indorse Landis

Ban Johnson on Defense In Three Amusing Bouts; Anything May Happen

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

New York, December 8.—Although the midwinter deliberations of the men who own the major league ball clubs ordinarily mean nothing at all to the man who takes his baseball in occasional doses at $1 a dose, the impending congress of the National and American leagues in New York is likely to provide some jolly entertainment to break the monotony of the inter-season. The old ponderous resolutions, abounding in blab and references to the "integrity of the national game" as the clubowners like to call their business enterprise, will be repeated as usual in all their unimaginative dullness, but there will be the makings of some going straight fight, all of them featuring Ban B. Johnson, president of the American league and, in his serious moments, one of the most amusing public figures in the country.

There will be the fight between Johnson and the directors of the Pacific Coast league, who have dabbled in New York instead of going straight home from the minor league convention last week at Hartford, Conn., in order to make Johnson retract or prove his insinuations that gambling was rife in the Coast league last summer.

There will be another between Johnson and the major league clubowners who wish to rebuke him for loud public criticism of Judge Landis' official conduct, Johnson being one of the signers of the famous clubowners' oath wherein they promise not to speak their opinions of one another but to maintain an outward front of amity and mutual admiration.

Main Bout.

And then there will be the main event, the starved final bout for the championship of organized baseball, between Landis and Johnson.

All these encounters will be fought under strict D. A. R. rules, the contestants being limited to verbal hair-pulling and whisker-tweaking but in the course of the strife the customers of baseball may learn some candid truths.

Harry Williams, president of the Coast league and Cal Ewing, of the Oakland club, will later around and attempt to sway Mr. Johnson with a resolution. They took up strong positions on a leather couch in Peacock alley Monday, intending to demand a certificate of purity from Johnson when the American league meets Wednesday. But Williams admitted in a tone of voice that spoke the bafflement of the Coast league, that they had no standing before an American league meeting and would have to depend on some kindly disposed member of the American league board to bring up officially the matter of Johnson's allegations.

The American league club owners who last week were reported to have tied of the Landis administration, are now said to be ready to give him a vote of confidence which would be a sort of rebuke to Johnson, their own president. Johnson is used to rebukes, of course, but this would be the severest of all.

May Dodge Issue.

The question whether baseball is still as crooked today as it was three years ago or less so or more so, probably will be adjudged as nobody has yet signified any intention of demanding the details of the Dolan-O'Connell case within the New York Giants' last fall. Landis' disposition of this case left the country strewn with suspicions that not all the crooks had been discovered and he even admitted that the investigation was not at an end.

However, it is impossible to anticipate what will happen, for the major leagues have a tendency to huddle together and whisper instead of telling the truth out loud when scandal touches their business.

All of the major league managers are here now or will have arrived by the time the National league goes into session Tuesday morning with the exception of Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who is sick in Baltimore. Almost all of them need players and not many of them have any players to offer in trade. Stanley Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, needs some reserve infield material to strengthen a club which had to use a lolling bit outfielder at third base during the last world series when Roger Peckinpaugh was hurt and removed.

He will also need a first-class pitcher to take the place of Walter Johnson if the serious Scandinavian quits the team. The Yankees need a new pitcher and shortstop and Ty Cobb, resting his weary Pomeranian in an easy chair along Fenwick alley, admitted that he had no warrants for a good shortstop and a second baseman.

The Giants claim to be standing pat on their 1924 team, but they have an extra first baseman and are in a position to make a good trade as they need a catcher. The Reds need a first baseman to take the place of the late Jake Daubert, and the Boston Red Sox and Braves each need a new ball club meetings will not end until Thursday.

HARD WORK ON TECH BILL

Georgia Tech basketball candidates took an active start Monday night in getting down to real business and one of the longest practices of the season thus far was held on the new Tech indoor court, with more than 30 candidates working out under the direction of Coach Harold Hansen.

With one week of preliminary work on pivoting and dodging the Tech candidates showed real class last night. "Skinny" Dennie, a star dribbler of last season, has improved wonderfully the past week and his speed on the court seems much greater than last season.

In teaching the pivoting, Coach Hansen has taught the players to take more freedom on the court, as a basketball player who can pivot well is one of the hardest on the court to guard.

The guard coming in fast on a dribbler has to guard from the back if the player pivots and keeps on going, making it personal foul on the guard.

No real scrimmaging will be attempted, and Coach Hansen is making every effort to give Tech one of its best basketball teams.

LOCAL PREPS Mickey Walker Defeats Jock Malone at Milwaukee

BY GORDON KEITH.

Coch Hodges conducted the initial call Monday for his G. I. A. A. championship basketballs to begin work for the "24-25" season, and the Bluebird squad that reported to the first practice looked like a promising bunch of cage stars. Five of the championship team are back on the court, only two of the cage stars being lost to the cause, and a wealth of new material was on hand. Freeman, stellar forward, and Johnny Broadnax, great little guard, are the men making university colors this winter.

Jacobson, Captain Wilder, Medlin, Speaks and Hornsby are the varsity men returned, and with this quintet as a nucleus, the coach expects to produce a five that will compare favorably with the speedy club of last season. With only one day of practice, it is of course impossible to get any kind of line on the new men, but there were two players who showed up well Monday.

Will Enter Tourney.

They were McHenry and Lindsey, both freshmen in the school. University will send its team to the G. I. A. A. tournament to defend its title, and expects to play several of the most prominent state teams before tourney time. A game with Columbus has already been arranged, one with Albany "Y," one with Lanier High and one with the Monroe Aggies, the school whose football team gave the Bluebirds their only defeat of the "24" season.

The Bluebirds will play most of the local quints, and will schedule several more out-of-town battles. Besides the Bluebird squad, University will enter its junior team in the junior high class this year, and since the young birds have been practicing for about three weeks already, the public schools will have a chance to watch the University youngsters.

Cadets Hard Hit.

With only one man returned from the first five of last season, G. M. A. has been working since Thursday to get the basket team into shape for the coming season. The cadets got down to work in earnest the first of the month when the squad began the training table, and despite the loss of most of the team, the College Park five is going to be heard from before the season discards their jerseys for the season.

Mathews, a forward, is the only first-string man returned, the team losing three starters, Tech Bear Patton, Ogletree and Bailey. Oliver and Dishman, letter men from last year, are back in togs, however, and with Mathews, Coach Morris has a good foundation upon which to build his team. G. M. A. will enter the Cotton States tournament the last of February in an attempt to regain a lost title, and a hard schedule will be played before tournament time.

The cadets will meet Marietta on the 10th, three days after school resumes following the holidays, and will have a stiff schedule through the season, having booked already two games with Tech freshmen, Tech Bear Patton, and a single game with Columbus High.

TENNIS MEET ARGUMENT SEEN

New York, December 8.—The long and tiresome "tis and 'taint" debate between the literary tennis stars and the Lawn Tennis association probably will be settled at the annual meetings of the association here next Saturday when the committee named to settle the squabble will make its report. This committee's recommendations are likely to be adopted as the final attitude of the association toward players who get extraordinary prizes for writing very ordinary literature because their names stand high in sport.

It is reported that the committee's report will offer a nice compromise whereby the players will be allowed to continue wooing the Muse but will be forbidden to use their tennis titles over their articles.

SLAYER OF FAMILY OF FIVE SENTENCED TO HANG BY JURY

Wheaton, Ill., December 8.—John Kammerer, eccentric recluse, who murdered a family of five with an axe and later fatally slashed the throats of the dead with a safety razor, has been sentenced to death by hanging.

Kammerer was found guilty late Monday after a jury had deliberated two and a half hours.

Kammerer last June murdered Otto Eder, together with Eder's wife and three sons. He confessed to the crime, but his attorneys attempted to show that the man's mind was unbalanced. It was brought out that Kammerer's hatred of the Eder family rooted from the fact that he lent Otto Eder $16 ten years ago, and that Eder failed to return the money at the time Kammerer needed it.

OPENING STATEMENTS MADE IN POISON CASE

Mount Vernon, Ill., December 8.—After devoting the entire afternoon to the opening statements of the attorneys, recess was taken until tomorrow morning in the poison murder trial of Lawrence M. Hight and Mrs. Elsie Sweetin. At the close of the session Attorney Smith, counsel for Mrs. Sweetin, declared that his client desired either to be sent to the gallows or home to her children.

Prosecutor Frank G. Thompson reviewed the case in detail in his opening statement, drawing frequent objections from the defense attorneys at incidents he mentioned which he said the state would prove. Most of these incidents concerned the relations of Hight with Mrs. Sweetin prior to the death of her husband and Hight's wife.

Attorney Layman for Hight stated that he would prove that his client was not responsible for his conduct at all times, and that he suffered delusions and hallucinations, there being insanity in the family.

BOXERS READY FOR BOUT TONIGHT

New York, December 8.—Tom Gibbons, St. Paul light-heavyweight, and Kid Norfolk, Baltimore negro, who meet for 15 rounds in the feature bout of the annual Christmas fund boxing carnival at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, today were declared by their managers to be fit for the fray.

Gibbons is a strong favorite, from his record of boxing skill and iron-jawed reception of the best that good men could give.

Another interesting argument is seen in the matching of Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion and Tiger Flowers, Georgia negro, who has been advancing steadily in the last two years. This bout is scheduled for 10 rounds.

Norfolk undoubtedly realizes that this appearance may mean the starting of a fortune which has long been denied him. Possibly the Baltimore negro, who has been denied competition with the best of the whites, is confident of humbling Gibbons, but boxing followers are inclined to believe that the same feet and legs which bore Gibbons so gallantly in the meeting with Champion Jack Dempsey, at Shelby, Montana, for 15 rounds, will sustain him tomorrow in the garden ring.

Norfolk has the power and the punch; Gibbons the greatest defense of any of the light-heavyweights, and a heart that has never faltered under fire.

Gibbons and Norfolk will enter the arena at the prescribed 175 pounds, without great difficulty, the Baltimore probably would be down to 174.

Gibbons is 31 years old and Norfolk 28. They vary perhaps half an inch in height. Each has scored several knockouts and many decisions over good opponents. Gibbons has never felt a knockout punch; Norfolk has been knocked out four times, once by Harry Wills in two rounds.

Rest Should Help.

The rest which the members of the California squad are getting right now should benefit the team greatly. After the Stanford game the men were pretty well bruised and had practice continued, chances of serious injury would have been great. With a good rest, however, they are expected to see every man on the squad in first-class condition for the New Year's game.

Couch Young and his men will probably leave Philadelphia December 26, arriving in Berkeley just a day or two before the game. Their workouts the week of the game will have to be taken along the route of travel, but since they will have plenty of practice before leaving, they too, should be in fine shape by the day of the game.

Penitentiary.

By defeating Cornell, the Philadelphia finished their regular season undefeated, and are now popularly conceded a high ranking among eastern teams. California tied with Stanford in her last regular game, and so finished the season unbeaten, and tied with Stanford for the conference championship. Consequently football fans on the Pacific coast are slated to see an inter-sectional game which brings together two of the leading teams of each section.

An unfortunate circumstance, perhaps, is the fact that the Stanford-Notre Dame game is scheduled for the same day in a different section of the state. If that date, it would be impossible to change either date. The Stanford-Notre Dame game is the feature of the Tournament of Roses.

FORT FREDERICA MAY BE RESTORED HARRIS REPORTS

Washington, December 8.—The war department has advised Senator Harris that it had requested the district engineer at Savannah, Ga., to make a thorough investigation and report, together with an estimate of cost of needed repairs for the protection of Fort Frederica, St. Simon's island, Georgia. Fort Frederica is an old English fort built by General Oglethorpe in 1735, as an outpost against the Spanish in Florida. The Colonial Dames of Georgia have in a measure restored the fort and its site, a state of preservation is due to their efforts, it is said.

Senator Harris personally inspected Fort Frederica during the summer in order to see what appropriation was needed for its protection and will use his efforts to secure the necessary appropriation from congress for the preservation of this national fortification.

Congress May Change Salaries for Employees Of Federal Prisons

Washington, December 8.—The department of justice advised Senator Harris Monday that it hoped to be able to recommend a new scale of salaries for penitentiary employees that will be more nearly in keeping with the duties they perform and the financial demands made upon them in the matter of legitimate living costs than has been the case in the past.

On behalf of the employees of the federal prison in Atlanta, Senator Harris has on several different occasions urged the department to make some provision for an increase in salary for these poorly-paid employees.

Gridiron Warriors Dine At Capital City Club; Also Get Loving Cup

BY BILL MORROW.

Sixteen Oglethorpe griders will receive letters for their activities on the gridiron during the "24" session tonight when they banquet at 7 o'clock at the Capital City club. The Petrel varsity will be the guests of friends of the university and will receive gold footballs and a large loving cup for their success in heading the list in S. I. A. A. competition.

The Oglethorpe football players receiving the coveted "O" are Clay Parrish, Charles Corlies, George Hardin, Linton Cooper, Windell Crowe, Marvin Nix, Clay Carroll, Miller Hamrick, Adrian Maurer, Kenneth Campbell, Bob Kilgore, Alton Redfern, Dewey Justus, I. W. Cousins, Hulet Lerkerson and Gifford Slayton.

At the same gathering Captain Adrian Maurer will hand over the leadership of Oglethorpe's most successful grid force to his successor, who will be picked by the other varsity players. Just who will succeed the illustrious Adrian Maurer is unknown at this writing, several members of the champion "24" eleven being mentioned as probable successors to the leader of the season just completed.

Football For All.

A beautiful loving cup will be presented to the S. I. A. A. champions, G. F. Willis being the donor. Gold footballs will also be on the list of presents for the Stormy Petrels, the friends of Oglethorpe showing their appreciation for the Oglethorpe "24" success on the gridiron by presenting each varsity player with this highly appreciated gift.

In bringing their football season to a close the Petrel players put a high mark for the griders of '25 to equal. Winning the championship of the S. I. A. A. by six wins out of as many attempts and losing to only one southern collegiate eleven, the Petrels have accounted for a highly successful gridiron endeavor.

Tech's Jacket combination handed the Petrels a lacing in the season's opening game by a 19-to-0 count, only to have the Petrels show remarkable improvement under the leadership of Coach Harry Robertson and total a long line of victories.

Coaching Was Excellent.

Coach Robertson found only mediocre material when he took the leadership of the team in hand, but through his efforts this same material was turned into a championship aggregation, excellent coaching and a personal touch that brought back the very best efforts in the Oglethorpe griders' make-up, being responsible for the season's success.

Windell Crowe, veteran tackle, is the only player ineligible for competition in football during the "25" schedule. All the other players have available time and it is highly probable that practically the entire eleven with only one or two exceptions, will answer Coach Robertson's call next September. Several of the players are undecided as to returning next year, but the call on the pickers is liable to be too much of a temptation, and even these griders will be on hand at Hernandez Field at the opening of the practice season.

Practice was resumed today and will continue at a brisk pace for the next two weeks. Work on the road will be more to acclimate the men than to drill them for the contest. Rockne was unable to make a definite statement regarding the number of men he would take with him, but it is generally accepted that he will take three full teams and possibly a few extra men.

Four Horsemen Preparing For Last Ride of Career

Notre Dame, Ind., December 8.—(Special.)—Coach Rockne and his undefeated Notre Dame football team will leave here on Saturday, December 20, for Pasadena, Cal., where it will meet Stanford on New Year's day, going west over the Southern Pacific by way of New Orleans and Tucson, practicing en route.

The return trip will be made over the northern route and stops will be made at Denver and Lincoln. The entire trip will cover 17 days, the men leaving the university at the close of school and returning in time to resume their studies at the end of the holiday vacation. The first stop will be at New Orleans, the team arriving there Sunday evening, December 21, and leaving at noon on Monday.

Practice will be held at Houston, Texas, on Wednesday and Thursday of that week and at El Paso on the following Saturday and Sunday.

Government Places Georgia Cotton at 1,000,000 Bales

NEW HIGH MARKS

Chicago, December 8.—Slaughtering of high price records for the season took place today in grain and provisions dollars for lint cotton, linters and cotton seed. A preliminary estimate of production, announced today by the department of agriculture, placed the quantity of lint cotton at 6,280,187,000 pounds, equivalent to 13,153,000 bales.

Based on the farm price of cotton on to a new peak on all the months that were traded in. Reports of severe crop damage to corn in Argentina led to a big general wave of speculative buying. Corn closed strong at 2c to 3-c advance, May $1.26 3/4. Wheat finished firm, 1 1/2- to 1 7/8 net higher; May $1.61 to $1.64 1/8 and July $1.64 7/8 to $1.45, with oats 1 3/8 to 1 7/8 up and provisions varying from 1/2c decline to 20c gain.

Grain futures markets which were widely stimulated the corn crop is annual yield, provided heavy rains occur within the next two weeks. Otherwise, the damage by drought, which has been the worst since 1930, will show up in reports current and with sharp advance in Liverpool quotations for the January delivery of corn, a rush to the market is expected. The rains began right at the opening. Reactions were of only a minor transient sort, and the close was at virtually the day's top figures.

Interest in the domestic corn belt did more or less to contribute to the urgency of buying. The country was reported as offering practically no surplus, and the weather with snow and cold expected to spread, the movement of grain appeared likely to fall off and the feeding demand increased. The conditions directly charged from oats and corn, and the demand for oats was more brisk than has recently been the rule.

Despite heavy profit-taking sales of corn, the Census Bureau reporting the actual situation, estimated that as of that date, Last year 90.3 per cent of the crop had been ginned to December 1, while in 1922 there had been ginning of 85.5 per cent of the crop.

The average revenue per acre for this year is estimated by the department of agriculture at 439.8 pounds compared with 498.5 last year; 501.7 in 1922 and 525.5 in 1921, or 33.5 the average of the preceding five years.

Production by States.

The preliminary estimate of production by states follows:

Virginia	30,000	North Carolina	705,000
South Carolina	750,000	Georgia	1,000,000
Florida	22,000	Alabama	390,000
Mississippi	1,680,000	Arkansas	480,000
Texas	770,000	Oklahoma	1,100,000
Illinois	330,000	Missouri	146,000
Kentucky	1,450,000	California	71,000
Idaho	30,000	New Mexico	56,000
All other states	1,000,000

CORN: Moved to a new high on all deliveries. The advance of 6% in Liverpool was taken to reflect the bad crop situation in Argentina. Cash corn locally was in good demand with basis easier.

OATS: Excellent buying power and prices

Egyptian Cotton. Receipts of cotton in Alexandria, Egypt, from November 1 to December 1, 1914, amounted to 811,255 bales, 26 pounds as compared with 727,477 bales during the same period last year. The same amount during the same period amounted to 524,652 bales of last year as compared to 490,788 bales of last year.

Cash Grain. The 1924-25 crop of Anglo-Egyptian Sudan is reported to be 45,307 tons of 478 pounds. Of this 29,518 bales are of Sakellaridis, and the remainder American cotton. The Private estimates place the Russian cotton crop this year at 458,000 bales or 478 pounds of ginned cotton, as compared with 189,000 bales last year and an average of 52,000 bales for the years 1920 and 1922.

The area planted to cotton in the Union of South Africa in the coming season is expected to be approximately 4,000 acres, however, a comparatively poor yield in the crop 1922 may result in smaller plantings than planned.

The acreage of the present cotton crop in the Transvaal is reported to be a third greater than that of last year. Prospects for the crop are good.

IN STATE OF REVOLT

Majorities in House and Senate

Washington, December 8.—Both senators George and Harris will vote to override the president's veto of the postal salaries increase bill, passed by substantial majorities in house and senate last session, when it is brought up again before the senate in the near future. The bill is expected to come before the senate after the disposal of the Shoals legislation, according to an announcement Monday by Senator Edge, of New Jersey. Considerable excitement is being caused in the provinces in the Guatemalan federation are in a state of incipient revolt owing to widespread agitation urging them to secede from Guatemala and so form a better lot with the republic of Mexico.

The districts concerned are Peten, Quetzaltenango and Los Altos. These provinces have been abandoned by the Guatemalan government and are subsisting in the primitive state of 100 years ago, the agitators assert.

Guatemalan police discovered the seat of the conspiracy in the city of Soconusco.

Both Georgia senators voted for the measure last session and both will vote to override the veto, according to a news release Monday. Senator Howell, a member of the special committee on the postoffice, the committee which framed the legislation, said he is "pleased" that hundreds of letters urging support of the measure have been received by the senators from interested people in the state.

Social and Cultural Affairs Are of Interest Today

Each day brings its round of lovely affairs for debutantes and visitors, and today will add its quota of charming entertainments to the already long list of interesting parties that have fairly crowded the days since the beginning of this season. Miss Constance Cone will be the inspiration for the bridge-tea at which Mrs. A. S. Adams will entertain this afternoon, while Miss Louise Stubbs, of Erie, Pa., and her guest, Miss Virginia Reynolds, of Denver, Col., will be the honor guests in the party that Miss Stubbs' grandmother, Mrs. Edward Gay, Sr., will give this afternoon at the tea-dance at the Biltmore hotel.

As a complement to two attractive visitors will be lovely parties, when Mrs. Julian Robinson will entertain six guests informally at luncheon today at the Piedmont Driving club in compliment to Mrs. George Golden, of Columbus, and Miss Marion Dean will entertain in honor of Mrs. Robert Brittain, of Detroit, Mich., this afternoon, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sam Johnson.

Adding interest to social life will be the supper-dances at the Capital City club to be given every Tuesday evening beginning this evening. The dinner at the Capital City club in honor of the football team of Oglethorpe will also be an event of Tuesday.

Cultural interest enters in the program of the Fine Arts club this afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club when Miss Frances Newsom will appear in costume, featuring a special attraction for children as well as grown-ups. Music lovers will enjoy the recital to be given this evening by Miss Grace Chalmers Thompson, organist and choirmaster of St. Philip's cathedral, at 8:15 o'clock.

The "Phi Mu" local alumnae will give a luncheon at the Henry Grady today.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Another Way.
If that boy of yours has suddenly decided he is too big to drink milk, give him a paper soda straw and he will drink the milk, if only to use the straw.

Think of Others.
Your laundryman will appreciate it and give you better service if you will be careful to remove odd pins from your soiled clothes while they are being sorted. It may save serious trouble.

Washing "Old Glory."
Add alum to the water when washing a flag, in order to preserve the colors. Use lukewarm, not hot, suds. Rinse in water of the same temperature and hang while still wet upon the flagpole. It will dry more quickly there and keep its shape.

DINNER STORIES

Two well known actors were playing golf and every stroke proclaimed that they were novices at the game. Several fair sized pieces of the turf had been sent skyward and when one unusually large piece departed from its native soil one of the accompanying caddies turned to the other and whispered:

"Did yer tell me they were actors, Bill?"

"Yes," answered the other.

"Well," was the reply, "all I can say is they ought to be scene shifters."

Mr. Mulligan was laying upon his death bed. Mrs. Mulligan was seated at his side, giving what small consolation she could offer in the circumstances.

"Sure, Mike," said she, "is there anything I cud do for yer before yun lave us?"

"Margaret, me darlint," said he, "I think I smell the odor of roastin' pork. I believe I cud eat a bit of it."

"I'm sorry, Mike," said she, "but I can't out into that pork 'past. We're savin' it for the wake."

It rained! At times it poured! The lights went out . . . the elevator stopped running . . . but still the crowds came. Some waited until the lights came on. Many made their selections literally in the dark, for NEVER BEFORE such values! Never before such riotous variety, such a brilliant array of style and beauty!

In answer to the many who could not get down on account of the storm, and those who telephoned to know if the sale would be continued today, we most emphatically answer "YES." It isn't a one-day proposition—the quantity involved is too immense to be cleared out in a day.

Children's Concert By Noted Orchestra Is Notable Event

Mrs. George A. Wight, president of the Atlanta Music club, declares there is widespread enthusiasm over the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra which is to appear Thursday, December 11, in two concerts, afternoon and evening, at the Auditorium.

Mrs. Wight calls attention to the young people's concert which will be given at 3:30 o'clock. In former years this concert was regarded more for children, but this year the president, desiring that all young people shall be included in this exceptional privilege, announces that all children and young people whether in public or private schools, seminary or college, are requested to attend, including those who are not in any school.

As there are no reserved seats all are urged to be prompt in presenting themselves at the Auditorium-Armory, as they will be seated in order of arrival.

Mrs. Wight bespeaks the decorum upon which she is depending. No restraint will be placed upon them, as is customary in some other cities where the afternoon concerts are given.

To the arrangement of the afternoon program Mr. Reiner has given interested personal attention. Made up almost entirely of the numbers included in the school memory contest of this season it will have been kept for the thousands of children who will come from the different schools throughout the fifth district. The prizes offered lend greatly to the interest.

The program includes: "March Militaire" of Schubert; overture to "William Tell" of Rossini; "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman" of Offenbach; selection from "The Nutcracker" suite, "Tchaikovsky"; "To a Wild Rose," by MacDowell, arranged for orchestra by Victor Herbert, and selections from the "Peer Gint" suite, by Grieg.

SUNSHINE PELLETS

BY DR. W. F. THOMSON

Who pins his faith upon an ointment is often doomed to disappointment.

No man can afford sickness, the poor man least of all.

Better a small fee to keep you well than a large one to get you well.

It takes "Hard Hearted Hanna" to bring the telegrams in from the radio fans.

Oh, what chance does
A poor man have,
Who bets his life on
A cancer salve?

No man has any right to contemplate marriage until his doctor has pronounced him physically fit.

If, in the past, the moralist had accepted the viewpoint of the physician, we would not now have 12,000,000 victims of syphilis in the United States.

How we enjoy being humbugged—when we squander our money chasing food fakes, physical culture fakes, how-to-get-thin fakes, how-to-get-fat fakes and all the other fakes.

The deadly plague's a rat disease,
And carried by his flea,
That hops upon a human host
And bites him on the knee.

Tuberculosis is more easily prevented than cured. The infection usually occurs in early childhood. Children should not, therefore, be exposed to adults who have the disease.

Undernourished, we invite lowered vital resistance against microbial invasions; overnourished, we invite inevitable degenerative changes that shorten life. The more temperate, middle course leads on to good health in old age.

MY BEAUTY RECIPE

BY ANITA LOOS, as Told to Diana Dare

"As far as we are aware, we never remake a character in order to have a beautiful person in the story. We set down our stories as they happen."

Anita Loos and John Emerson, our most prominent scenario writers, stated this. Besides being happily married, they collaborate in their work.

Tiny Anita, with her black locks bobbed so close that she resembles a boy, sat in one corner of the long, deep sofa. Tall John Emerson sat in the other corner.

When she spoke he kept his eyes fixed on her as if eating up her words. When he spoke her eyes held the same look of attention. First, she started on an idea of hers. Soon he agreed with her. Together they developed the idea in discussion. Next he jumped to another idea; and she came over to it, after some contemplation. Thus it was that the subject was developed.

"Anita and I are exact opposites in our thinking," said Mr. Emerson. "That is how two people work together to advantage—if each is different from the other. Anita is more for creative things, and I am more for structural things. For my part, I and art; and the feeling will come naturally, not through uplift."

"People want in the movies today a baby face, a magazine cover heroine, a happy ending," said Anita, "that's why we pick it for them, and will—until they want something more—each thing in its place."

Atlanta Smith College Club Gives Party For Prep Girls

The Atlanta Smith College club entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon, December 6, at Agnes Scott college the annual party given in honor of the college prep girls from the junior and senior classes of Washington seminary, North avenue, Fulton and Girls' High Schools.

Miss Margaret Culbertson, as chairman of entertainment was assisted by the following committee: Mrs. George Curry, Miss Lillian Kennedy and Mrs. Denman. Miss Hale, member of the faculty of Agnes Scott, was chairman of hospitality and assisting her were Miss Dorothy Fain, Miss Sue Clafin and Miss Ethel Woolf.

An interesting guessing game was held and Miss Frances Messer, of Girls' High school won the prize, a book of plays written by Smith college women. Other prizes were won by Miss Gertrude Parker from Fulton High; Miss Catherine Howell and Miss Margaret Stone from Washington seminary.

The gymnasium was elaborately decorated in yellow and white, the colors of Smith college, and purple and white, Agnes Scott colors.

The Blackfriars gave a one-act play and a reading under the direction of Miss Frances Gooch, head of dramatic arts of Agnes Scott, in compliment to the college girls.

Mrs. H. Dutton Smith, president of the Atlanta Smith club, acted as general chairman on arrangements and deserves great credit for the success of the entertainment.

BROADCASTS

When Emergency Arises.

Should probation precede marriage or divorce?
Over in Germany they are proposing an amendment to their divorce laws providing that a two-year probationary period shall precede the granting of a divorce.

Now comes a judge who says that a man is a quitter if he refuses to talk his "innocent first horn" to sleep, and a wife doesn't need two years to prove it.

He also adds that probation should come before marriage. In the best baby-rearing circles it is rumored that there is something radically wrong with an innocent first born that requires continued walking or rocking to sleep. It may have drifted on its collar or halitosis or some other ailment which curtails its social popularity. In other words there should be no necessity for father losing any sleep over the infant's welfare.

But colic will happen in the best of regulated families, and when such emergency does arise father should likewise lend a helping hand.

The judge is right.

ANITA LOOS
"Beauty is the right thing in the right place"

agree with the man who said, "What's the use of art if it doesn't improve on nature?"

"Yes," joined Anita, "I think all people are divided on those two lines. One group thinks the beauty of nature is matchless, the other group thinks works of art have the greater beauty."

"We believe," stated Anita, "that beauty is each thing in its right place. This is the secret of beauty. I try to bring it out in my face, my life, my work. To say the right thing in the right place, to wear the right thing in the right place, to do the right thing in the right place—this is beauty."

"Bad taste in dress or manners makes a pretty face look not only not pretty, but vicious. A face which laughs when it should be serious, a face which is serious when it should laugh—all this is not beautiful."

"There is only one thing that is in place at all times, in all places, and that is humanity—to be human in our looks, our glances, our thoughts, our judgments, our acts."

"Beauty is each thing in its right place and I believe no other consideration is necessary."

"Yes," agreed her husband, "what this country needs is not more uplift, but more humanity. The reason movies have been a greater success here than in any other country is because they are about the only emotion most people have here. With more emotion people will have more feeling for beauty."

Luncheon at Wren's Nest Will Celebrate 75th Anniversary

Very dear to the hearts of all southerners is the memory of Joel Chandler Harris, of Uncle Remus fame, and the celebration of his birthday is always an event of unusual interest. A luncheon to be given at the Wren's Nest today by the Uncle Remus Association will mark the 75th anniversary of the birth of the great story-teller.

The association is planning a beautiful memorial to "Uncle Remus" in the form of an enclosure of Lombardy poplars that is to surround the entire estate. Each tree will be placed by some individual or organization to commemorate a loved one. Immediately after the luncheon today the first planting of these memorial trees will take place.

Today will be filled with meetings of varied import and interest. The College Park League of Women Voters and the executive board of the Atlanta chapter U. D. C. will hold sessions this morning, while the afternoon hours will assemble members of the Shorter College club, the Peachtree Road Woman's club and the War Mothers' Service Star Legion. Other organizations will also have meetings during the day.

Every month brings its quota of P. T. A. meetings, and today is especially rich in these gatherings. Mothers' Study circles find a prominent place on the calendar along with the more usual Parent-Teacher associations.

Agnes Scott To Hear Important Lectures

Two very interesting lectures are scheduled by the Lecture association of Agnes Scott for this week. The first was given Monday night at 8:30 o'clock by Dr. James T. Shotwell. Dr. Shotwell is professor of history at Columbia university, with president Wilson at the peace conference in 1918-1919 and is one of the most famous men in the United States today in the historical field. He lectured on "The Protocol of the League of Nations Which Outlaws War."

On Tuesday morning Mr. Wannamaker, of Princeton, will lecture from 9 to 10 o'clock. Mr. Wannamaker's subject will be "Italy Today." His new book, "Italy and her War of Liberation," has been praised greatly, both here and abroad. He spent the entire period of the war in Italy and is fully prepared to speak on this subject.

Admission to both lectures will be 50 cents.

West End Civic Club To Hear Dr. Williams

Dr. Marvin Williams, well-known minister and lecturer, will be featured as the speaker for the meeting of the Women's Civic Club of West End, Wednesday, December 10, at 3 o'clock. As Dr. Williams has served as pastor of several prominent churches of the city, at present occupying the pulpit of Wesley Memorial, he needs no introduction to an Atlanta audience. Every member of the club is cordially invited to take advantage of this opportunity to hear him.

Mrs. R. Taylor Connolly has arranged the program in honor of the birthday of Joel Chandler Harris. In addition to the talk by Dr. Williams, the program will be composed of readings by Miss Dorothy Collier, and musical numbers supplied by Mrs. J. A. Murphy.

The report of the recent convention of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, which was postponed at the last meeting on account of illness in the family of Mrs. Arthur J. Merrill, will be given at this meeting.

Daddies' Meeting To Be Held Wednesday

There will be a daddies' meeting at the Davis Street school Wednesday evening, December 10, at 7:30 o'clock. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, will be the speaker.

Frank L. Stanton P. T. A. To Meet

The Parent-Teacher association of the Frank L. Stanton school will hold its daddies' meeting Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the schoolhouse. An interesting program will be presented.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family remedy which will stop a cough in minutes. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few minutes. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly stops the inflamed membrane that lines the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions as to use. Don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Cincinnati Symphony Leader Soon To Become American

BY NANA TUCKER.
Fritz Reiner, Hungarian, brilliant young conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra which will be heard in Atlanta Tuesday, is soon to become a full-fledged citizen.

Soon after accepting the invitation to the United States to assume control of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra two years ago, so impressed was Fritz Reiner with the musical possibilities of America that he applied for naturalization papers for himself and his wife.

Born in Budapest where his mother and brother still live in the old family home, and where he spends at least a part of each summer, Fritz Reiner was married to Berta Gardina, gifted Italian singer and daughter of the famous opera star, Erika Gerster, from her father's estate. Mrs. Reiner inherited a handsome old villa at Pontecchio di Bologna, Italy. The villagers—native peasants—about two hundred, are dependents of the estate, "my people," Mrs. Reiner affectionately calls them, and they care for the vineyards and gardens which cover many acres of ground. In the old chapel connected with the villa, services are held regularly by the village priest.

Although both Mr. and Mrs. Reiner are deeply attached to their Italian home they have emphasized their intention of becoming American citizens by the purchase of a beautiful estate in the suburbs of Cincinnati. More recently, on his return from Europe, Mr. Reiner brought to the estate a variety of flowers and other plants from Italy, together with an Italian Shepherd dog and two Italian wolf hounds, and he promises that the Americanization of these latest imports will go on as rapidly as his own.

Bryan and Gulick Speak At Woman's Club Meeting

"Just as the saloon went out, the women came in," said William Jennings Bryan, in a stirring address before several hundred members and friends of the Atlanta Woman's club Monday afternoon. "And I expect much of the women and am glad for them to assume the responsibilities along with men," continued Mr. Bryan.

"Everything that can be done, should be done to encourage their interest and their participation in world affairs. They have their duties and rights and should look after them, and I look to them to devise some machinery that will in time abolish war entirely. War should be prevented if possible, we know, and I believe that women will establish new standards of honor, that will help to bring the nations in closer relation. Reforms cannot come until the fullness of time," continued Mr. Bryan, "and taking into consideration the fact that ten men to every one woman fill the prisons of the country, and ten women to every one man fill the churches, why shouldn't we believe that the women have the power of ultimately establishing a single standard of morals."

"I am glad that man was made before woman, because it proved that he could not live without her," said Mr. Bryan. "And I commend any man that puts money in schools for women, because it is paying her the highest tribute. You will find in this day that women are studying public subjects more than men are and becoming well informed. They never fail to rise to any responsibility and you will see that they will justify their votes by their deeds." Mr. Bryan closed his remarks with a splendid tribute to the Atlanta Woman's club and stated later that he had never seen anything to compare with it in woman's club, except perhaps one in California.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the woman's club, in a most charming and gracious manner, presented Mr. Bryan to the audience, which received him with great applause. Following Mr. Bryan's address, Mrs. Sharp introduced Dr. Witherspoon Dodge and asked him to present the next speaker. Dr. Dodge in his attractive manner spoke a few words in response to the introduction, in which he laughingly said that Woodrow Wilson had the honor at one time of going to the same school that he did, and while there, he went to some friend's room on an errand and on knocking someone asked, who's there, and in response he answered "Woodrow Wilson" and the party replied, "Well, you haven't got anything on me, I am Christopher Columbus."

Dr. Gulick spoke. Dr. Dodge introduced Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, international secretary of the commission on justice and friendship, who made a very interesting talk on the relations existing between Japan and the United States. Dr. Gulick declared that there was a constant misunderstanding between the people of that nation and those of this country, but if they could ever come to thoroughly understanding each other there would be no further trouble. He brought out by illustration that there were two sides to everything, if one could always see both sides, Dr. Gulick spent 25 years in Japan, but has been in this country now for 10 years.

Dr. Gulick believes that war will never occur between the United States and Japan, but he deprecates the fact that a profound misunderstanding continues to exist throughout the ages. He explained this misunderstanding and its apparent reasons.

"However," said Dr. Gulick, "further trouble." Naturally, he said since 1861, and if an understanding can be established, there will be no further trouble. Naturally," continued Dr. Gulick, "the Japanese do not like the exclusion act of congress, which reads that a Japanese is ineligible for citizenship in this country, because it seems as a sign of inferiority in the race, however well they may understand its true meaning and purpose."

Dr. Gulick spoke at length on immigration of both the Japanese and Chinese and the agreement between the nation of Japan and the United States. He also called attention to the fact that the number coming in was much more carefully kept and thought of than the number going out. For instance, during a certain period 171,000 Japanese arrived in this country and during the same period

55,000 emigrated, and a great many counted in those coming here were the same men returning after a time spent in Japan. Dr. Gulick closed by saying: "If we want peace, we must deal with others as we wish to be dealt with."

Mrs. Stevens spoke. Mrs. T. F. Stevens, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke interestingly of the life of Joel Chandler Harris, Atlanta's noted writer, who is known to the world as "Uncle Remus." Mrs. Stevens said that the 75th anniversary of this beloved poet would be celebrated at the Wren's Nest, the old home of Mr. Harris, today. She described the Wren's Nest, stating that every inch of the ground now belonged to the Uncle Remus Memorial association and that at present a branch of the Carnegie library occupied a part of the building. She was pleased to state that representatives from every state in the union had visited the home of the noted poet. Mrs. Stevens said that the Wren's Nest, a beautiful token of love and respect was paid her, when a lovely blooming plant was presented to her by her son's wife, Mrs. Lucien Harris, who received the token.

Dr. W. F. Melton also spoke briefly of the life of the poet. He stated that short story writing was distinctly American, that Hawthorne allegorized the short story, Poe standardized it, Washington Irving legitimized it, Bret Harte localized it, O'Henry socialized it, and Joel Chandler Harris folklorized it. The Atlanta Woman's club takes great pleasure in observing each year the anniversary of the city's beloved poet and this proved an exceptionally beautiful observance. Others participating in the Uncle Remus program were Misses Sarah Sharp and Robert Harbor. Mrs. A. M. D. Wilson, president of the Uncle Remus Memorial association, with the relatives of the poet, were invited as honor guests of the occasion.

AMERICUS WOMAN
TEARS ONLY CLUE
FROM INTRUDER

Americus, Ga., December 8.—With bloodhounds unable to pick up the trail of an unknown man, who entered the home of Mrs. H. T. Castlebury early this morning, police are working on the only clue to the identity of the intruder, a piece of overall suspender strap torn off by Mrs. Castlebury in a struggle following her discovery of the man's presence in her room. Mrs. Castlebury suffered a sprained ankle in the struggle with the man, believed to have entered the house with burglary as his object. Bloodhounds immediately were put on the trail, but it was lost on asphalt pavement, where traffic had wiped out the scent. Mrs. Castlebury reports that the arrival of her son-in-law, C. E. Pouncey, frustrated an attempt by the intruder to choke her. Mr. Pouncey fired a load of buckshot as the man was escaping through the same window he used for an entrance, but the shot went wild, entering the window.

GEORGIAN SHOT IN GUN BATTLE

Fitzgerald, Ga., December 8.—(Special.)—A shooting affray Sunday, said to have been occasioned by a dispute over the right-of-way of a road, resulted in gun shot wounds to Sidney Clare, whose property is reported to have been in question, and the issuance of several peace warrants by both sides. Clare is not seriously hurt.

According to versions of the affair, Clare, accompanied by his son, Barry Clare, and a white tenant, Oliver Brown, met D. J. Seigler and George Drexler, adjoining property owners. Seigler and Drexler are said to have contended for the maintenance of a road, which had been abandoned. Another road was opened for them by the Ben Hill county road commission and had been accepted by the post-office department, it is declared.

Both sides claim that the other fired first, but the only shots to find their mark were those that wounded Clare. Drexler is said to have wounded Clare.

Judge Powers has set Wednesday, December 17, as the date for the hearing.

AUGUSTA OPENS NEW WHITE WAY; NO CELEBRATION

Augusta, Ga., December 8.—(Special.)—Heavy rains this afternoon and tonight prevented Augusta from celebrating the opening of the new white way. Hundreds of visitors were in the city for the event, which was to be featured with street dancing, fireworks, concerts and other forms of amusements. Although visitors and citizens were denied the pleasures in store for them in the form of amusements, nevertheless they were given a thrill when the lights were turned on at 8 o'clock according to schedule. Augusta, with this lighting system rank with the largest cities in Georgia in the matter of a white-way system.

CHATHAM BAR SEEKS 3RD FEDERAL JUDGE

Savannah, Ga., December 8.—(Special.)—Going on record in favor of three federal court districts for Georgia instead of two, with one judge over each district, instead of the proposed third judge to help out the two districts and two judges now crowded with business, the Chatham Bar association today endorsed the plan with suggestion that Savannah be headquarters for the third district and the judge appointed be a Savannah lawyer or that he make his residence here. It was pointed out that not since 1839 has there been a federal judge appointed from Savannah.

BLUE RIBBON FICTION

SYNOPSIS.
Palmyra, on board the yacht Rainbow, which is leaving the California coast for the south seas, is startled to see a sinister brown hand with a black lace mitt on it thrust through her porthole window. Palmyra is loved by two men, John Thurston and Van Buren Rutger. She determines to unmask the owner of that sinister hand, but tells no one her purpose. She discovers Pompey Burke, who confesses that he is a smuggler of coolies and opium. Burke permits her a glimpse of a savage brown man, Olive, hiding with him. Palmyra does the savage brown man a good turn. Palmyra gradually convinces herself she is in love with Van Buren Rutger. Burke and Olive leave the yacht at Honolulu, and Palmyra's engagement to Van Buren is announced. The yacht Rainbow is wrecked. The party lands on an uninhabited island, faced with starvation.

BURKE APPEARS AS RESCUER.

Thurston whirled upon him. "Don't!" he cried. "Don't dare tell them that. We'll filter salt water through this sand or rig a condenser with junk from the wreck."

"If it isn't li'l old Captain Kidder!"

Palmyra had not been consciously aware of Thurston's leadership until hours after the catastrophe. Her attitude was typical of them all, perhaps even to Thurston himself. There had been something to do; the stronger nature had asserted itself. And the ship's company, acquiescing thus automatically, with scarcely any registered sense of change, paid him its highest compliment.

The girl had not thought to wonder why Thurston, rather than her fiancé, had been chosen. John's leadership was a matter of course. He had a reputation for efficiency in handling men. Van had had neither occasion nor opportunity.

Here spoke her good common sense. But in the circumstance that Van was not one whit belittled in her eyes, that her ideal of him suffered not at all, one read a certain limitation of outlook. Thus far her being had derived from the comfortable heroism of the counting house. Never had existence itself hung dependent upon courage, quickness of wit, the power of brawn. The past had given her no cause to place a value upon those attributes John possessed and Van lacked.

If, instinctively, she had begun to reach out toward an expression of life more in keeping with her own sturdy nature, she was as yet unconscious of the fact. And, being unaware of Mrs. Crawford's original plot, she could hardly be expected to note that the wreck had reversed the situation; that where, before, John had been put to disadvantage, now Van had been given the role he could not play.

The inevitable had occurred between these men. As Thurston had risen to leadership, so Van—physically exhausted, gnawed by remorse, visibly confessing to the full of self-contempt his utter inability to meet the crisis—had sunk to his place as a private in the ranks.

But love is blind, and Capt. Pederson's collapse had enabled the girl to lay the blame all on him.

Palmyra did not see, suspect. They were easily cheered that first day. True, the island bore no signs of native visitation. But with their launch they could easily reach the nearest inhabited lagoon, or they would even build a seaworthy craft from material of the wreck, were they not certain some passing vessel would soon take them off.

Thus the first day. But when the second came and went and the third dawned upon an empty ocean, they began to despond. At night a beacon fire had blazed forth its appeal—they must soon turn to the Rainbow for fuel—and by day the launch waited to overhaul any passer-by. But of what avail these upon a sea where no one seemed to venture?

And then, at midday, from the wreck across the lagoon, there boomed out the signal gun. A sail! A sail! A sail!!!

Briefly, they were skeptical. Twice already hope had fooled them. But soon they could no longer doubt; a two-masted schooner and upon a course that must lay the island aboard.

Rapidly the deliverer rose from the sea. A vessel of no great tonnage, she sailed with noticeable speed. Weather-stained as to canvas, she was still a thousand times more beautiful to the castaways than ever their gemlike Cleopatra's barge of an atoll. And this though they did not half appreciate the miracle of rescue within three days, let alone three months.

As the schooner bore down upon them she broke out the American colors. When she was abreast of their position she came about and then hove to in lee of the reef. A boat was lowered.

Palmyra, through her glasses, saw that three men got into this boat. Two of them were undoubtedly native seamen. The third, who had been reconnoitering from the crossbeams, appeared to be a white man.

She watched them as they pulled rapidly in through the passage and across the lagoon. Then, in astonishment, she lowered the binoculars to stare at Van Buren Rutger, who, capering about, had emitted a war whoop. Van, in this short hour, had regained all the spirits lost in three whole days.

He was dancing over the coral clinkers now like a musical comedy fuffoon.

"By the great god cash!" he cried, "if it isn't li'l old Captain Kidder!"

Almost from the moment Pompey Burke came running up the sands Palmyra perceived a difference. Was it that the ridiculous habiliments of the Rainbow had given way to the starched white of the tropical ship's master? Or was it that she missed the obtrusive humility? No longer a stowaway, he spoke to Mrs. Crawford a one master to another; a full note of equality.

Or did he glow with an honest elation of service? Shocked as he'd been at the poor old Rainbow—aye-e-e, but that was a sight!—there'd been a joy in it, too. It'd been perfect if they hadn't—he pointed to the launch on the lagoon—had that splendid power boat there. For the other boats, as he remembered, weren't up to much, wouldn't have done for a try. The castaways would have been absolutely helpless. And, really, he'd have liked it so. Only then could he feel he'd repaid in full their saving him.

This was a bit florid. Perhaps, after all, the fact might be no more than a juvenile sort of vanity in himself as master of that swift sail; a vanity bubbling over at unexpectedly finding his audience. And he must have had some vague hope of such reunion as this. For he was saying now that, on the Rainbow, he'd withheld the fact that he had a vessel of his own lying-up at Honolulu; withheld it on the chance of "surprising 'em somewhere out here."

There could be no question of his fond pride in that fast craft. As he talked he could hardly keep his eyes off her. Not so much for style, perhaps, but, ta-a-foh, how she could sail. Had they noticed the way she cut through the water? The lines of her? The sheer of her bow? And had they seen—he interrupted himself with that oddly unadulterated mirth of his—had they seen her name? O, they'd laugh when they did see. Came with the old hooker when he bought her. Right out of the Bible it was—Lupe-a-Noa. They'd never guess in a thousand years. Pigeon of Noah.

Van seized his hand with impulsive warmth. "Why, then, this must be—why, Mr. Noah, I didn't recognize you now you've shaved. But we're still talking in our family of your splendid hospitality."

Burke guffawed delightedly. "I sure will feel like Noah," he said, "a-taking you all on to the Ark, two by two."

He turned, presently, to the pile of salvaged stores and gear. The Pigeon, as was evident, could stow only the more valuable part. The rest must be left under canvas and sent for.

Details were arranged. Burke would get back aboard at once to take charge on the schooner. The yacht's launch, with three of her own men, would tow Burke's boat out, both loaded with stores. While these were unloading at the Lupe-a-Noa, Thurston would get his other boats into the water, sort over the supplies.

"We'll stow the best first," said Burke in conclusion, "and then see what space we got left for second rate cargo."

MAXSON FURMAN JEWELL

MRS. ANANIAS.
By Wallace M. Bayliss.
Old Ananias has a doubtful fame, And lots of women's clubs think it's a shame That Mrs. Ananias should have been Accused of guilty conduct in his sin. Well, I don't know, but since I am a man I think I'm situated so I can Review this case far better than some Hen.

For reason, not emotion, governs men. For sake of argument we will admit That Ananias, when he lied a bit, Used rotten judgment, and we will agree That if he had consulted her, that she Would probably have found a better way To gain their ends; but when she learned that A Had told his tale, her wifely loyalty Would not permit her to fail him, you see.

Such true devotion should excite our praise So seldom do we see it nowadays. And here's another moral to our verse— She took her man for better or for worse, And when he proved a lot worse than she thought, She went down sticking to him, as she ought.

THE BEAUTY OF BALDNESS.
Those who know Dr. George A. Baldpate will recall that the famous traveler is as bald as his name would imply. Unlike many, the doctor is in no way sensitive about this feature and even likes to tell an anecdote in which his lack of hair played an important part. "I was in the Liberian hinterland," says the doctor, "hunting tigers and okapi. There were also a few wanton about . . . elusive beggars they are, too. My party were quartered at the garrison at Oom, for the country was in a state of uprising and we thought it wise not to stray far from the military."

"However, once I am on the trail of big game I am relentless and will never give up. One afternoon my gun-bearers, beaters, and I flushed a gigantic warpi who led us a mad chase far beyond the limits of prudence. On our return journey we found the way barred by a hundred or more natives whose howls of joy left no doubt as to their intentions. I drew my men back among the ruins of an old temple from the top of which I could see the garrison 10 miles away.

"An inspiration seized me. Snatching off my hat I exposed my head to the blinding tropical sun and could see the long rays of reflected light streaming down the valley. Directing the main beam toward the garrison I soon had the satisfaction of seeing an answering flash from the heliograph in the compound. A moment later I had delivered my urgent SOS signal and saw the troops riding out of the main gate. The natives were caught between our two parties and completely destroyed. The only casualty on our side was a severe case of sunburn which made it impossible for me to wear a hat for several days."

WORLD'S FINEST TRAIN IS PROMISED FOR CUBA

"The finest train in the world"—a virtual palace on wheels—has been announced by W. M. Camp, superintendent of the southeast division of the Pullman company, with headquarters in Atlanta. This de luxe train—now being built in the Pullman shops in Chicago—will operate from January 10 to about March 15, and will run from Havana to Santiago, Cuba.

Nothing like this train has ever been attempted before. Mr. Camp declared Monday. It will represent the newest and most comfortable compartments devised for any train in the world. Many features will be presented which have not hitherto been available to the American traveling public.

The first car will consist of a kitchen, a place for baggage, refrigerators and storage space for edibles. The next car will be a full length dining car, the like of which will be rare in the traveling world. It is said, unique in furnishings and adornments, with side chandeliers and black and white tile floor, with a most unusual Spanish color scheme carried out throughout the car.

Tables will be arranged as in the home, or a restaurant, or perchance a cabaret or roof garden. They will be of various sizes, to accommodate parties of different numbers up to 18 persons.

This extraordinary dining car will be followed by three more of eight compartments each. Each car will be equipped with a parlor for the use of occupants of that particular car. Meals will be served in these cars if desired, at any hour of the day or night. Writing desks also will be furnished. Each car will be equipped with a private bath and an observation platform.

The capacity of the train will be 50 passengers only. The train will be piloted by the P. & O. Steamship company's docks at Havana, so that there will be no long transfer from ship to train.

This unusual train will be on exhibition soon at Jacksonville, Fla., and other principal cities of the south. And last, but far from least, will be the bar.

At this American obsolete institution, if you are a passenger on this wonder train, you can march up boldly and imbibe any drink in the bartender's guide from a horse's neck to a rum rhapsody.

"This is one of the principal features of the train," Mr. Camp said. It certainly is.

Charles V. Vickery, general secretary of the Near East relief, at a dinner tendered by the federal council of the organization at the Piedmont hotel Monday night, expressed appreciation for work that is being done by agencies of the Near East relief and asserted that the movement is one of the best that religious people could possibly undertake at this time.

William Jennings Bryan, an honor guest of the federation at the dinner, made a brief address to the assembly, stressing the fact that "American citizens are now living in the greatest age of humanity and are responsible only to the great God for the privilege of living in such an age. As a token of appreciation on the part of the religious people, the very least that they can do is to aid in a movement for the betterment of humanity in the Near East."

The meeting was presided over by Dr. James I. Vance, who called upon several members to make brief addresses concerning visits to the Near East and conditions as they found them in that section. A round-table discussion followed.

Before dinner was served, a motion picture was presented, showing distressing conditions in the Near East.

NEAR EAST RELIEF WORKERS PRAISED BY C. V. VICKERY

Charles V. Vickery, general secretary of the Near East relief, at a dinner tendered by the federal council of the organization at the Piedmont hotel Monday night, expressed appreciation for work that is being done by agencies of the Near East relief and asserted that the movement is one of the best that religious people could possibly undertake at this time.

William Jennings Bryan, an honor guest of the federation at the dinner, made a brief address to the assembly, stressing the fact that "American citizens are now living in the greatest age of humanity and are responsible only to the great God for the privilege of living in such an age. As a token of appreciation on the part of the religious people, the very least that they can do is to aid in a movement for the betterment of humanity in the Near East."

ATLANTANS WARNED
INCOME TAX IS DUE

In an effort to reach all persons affected 11,000 bills for final payment on income taxes, due December 1, have been mailed out, was stated Monday by J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue for Georgia.

Collector Rose pointed out that the law provides that notice shall be mailed to the taxpayers informing them that their taxes are due. Persons who owe the final installment, but who do not know the exact amount, should get in communication with the collector's department by telephone at Walnut 5841 or by mail.

The fact that hundreds of refund checks due taxpayers on account of the 25 per cent reduction were returned to the collector's office, unclaimed, is proof that many taxpayers have changed their addresses or that their mail does not reach them. Collector Rose stated. He pointed out that failure to receive income tax notices does not relieve the taxpayers of the responsibility of paying the tax, and the law provides penalty for failure.

HOUSTON COUNTY
WINNERS REFUSE TO TAKE OFFICES

State capital authorities were given a shock Monday when six officials of a Georgia county served notice on the governor that they would decline to accept their commissions.

The officers were elected in Houston county last November. Their homes, however, are in that section which will become part of the new county of Peach January 1, and they are candidates for offices in the new county.

Therefore, while Peach county will be without county officers for some days, between January 1 when the county comes into existence and its first election on January 7, Houston is likely to be minus half a dozen officers for a still longer period, when the officers already elected refuse to assume their duties. Houston will have to call a special election, which will take at least 20 days after January 1.

The Houston officers who will refuse commissions are: George D. Anderson, sheriff; T. E. Tharpe, tax collector; C. N. Rountree, tax receiver; O. T. Bateman, commissioner; A. W. Taylor, commissioner; and Charles Vance, surveyor.

Foster L. Hunter, popular ad man from the fifth ward and member of the firm of Hunter-Blanchard company, morticians, Monday announced that he has severed his connection with that concern and had become associated with Awtry & Lowndes Co.

Mr. Hunter was connected with Awtry & Lowndes, well-known firm funeral directors, for six years, leaving to form the Hunter-Blanchard company.

He is a leader in the ranks of southern morticians, and is connected with a number of fraternal organizations.

Women Probably To Compose Majority of Kid McCoy Jury

SEVEN ALREADY HAVE QUALIFIED AS JURORS

Los Angeles, December 8.—Just as women always have figured prominently in the career of Kid McCoy, the frequently married fighter, so will they be prominent in what may be the Kid's last gesture before a world which once honored him for his pugilistic triumphs.

As selection of veniremen went forward Monday in Superior Judge Crail's court, where McCoy is to be tried on grand jury indictments charging him with the murder of Mrs. Theresa Moss, his last sweetheart, it appeared that there would be at least seven women on the jury.

Seven already have qualified and if they are rejected, their places will be filled from a group of prospective jurors in which women predominate, three to one. Both defense and prosecution said they expected to be agreed on the jury by Tuesday night.

All of the women accepted tentatively are married or have been married. There were no young women among them; their occupations were given as "housewife" or "retired." They all knew of McCoy, but, singularly, there was a consistent denial that they had read newspaper accounts of the murder. One woman said she had known McCoy through the publicity he achieved when he was at the height of his boxing career. Others said they had been interested in his numerous marriages. But not one of them, except in the case of those who declared against capital punishment, threw up a single obstacle which would stand in the way of their selection.

SKELETON FOUND; WIDOW ARRESTED

Winston-Salem, N. C., December 8.—Mrs. Annie Snipes, youthful widow of Bruce Snipes, who disappeared four years ago, and Pete Phillips, a family friend, were held in the Forsyth county jail here today without bond, pending an investigation into the death of Snipes, whose skeleton was found in an old well on a farm near here several days ago. Officers are searching for Moody O'Neal, who was reared in the Snipes home.

The arrests were made on recommendation of County Coroner Dalton, who filed a report of his findings with the clerk of the court late Saturday night. The verdict was that Snipes came to his death "from a blow on the head inflicted by some heavy blunt instrument."

The coroner recommended also that Mrs. Snipes, Phillips and O'Neal be taken into custody pending a full investigation. Today were silent as to the evidence they have uncovered regarding the circumstances surrounding the death of Snipes, who was 21 years old and had been married but a few months when he disappeared. O'Neal has been seen only a few times since Snipes disappeared.

Neither Mrs. Snipes nor Phillips would talk.

Bruce Snipes disappeared in November, 1920. The last time he was seen, according to officers, he was talking with his young wife. Two days later he was found in a skeleton standing near a Norfolk & Western trestle in this city. This was the last known of him until a few days later when workmen found a skeleton adopted referring the matter to the streets committee of city council with the recommendation that the county be asked to grade and pave the street since owners of land in the affected area will give property for the widening.

The street, according to the proposition submitted to the commission, should be widened to 30 feet, as at present. The street is one of the most important and most heavily traveled connecting the two Peachtree streets.

WIDER ALEXANDER STREET APPROVED
Widening of Alexander street between Peachtree and West Peachtree streets was approved by the city planning commission Monday and a motion picture adopted referring the matter to the streets committee of city council with the recommendation that the county be asked to grade and pave the street since owners of land in the affected area will give property for the widening.

The street, according to the proposition submitted to the commission, should be widened to 30 feet, as at present. The street is one of the most important and most heavily traveled connecting the two Peachtree streets.

ENRAGED NEGRESS THREATENS FAMILY
Her life threatened Monday afternoon, by a crazed negro servant, Mrs. Allen Artley, of 119 The Prado, wife of a prominent contractor, saved herself and probably her entire family, when she held an enraged negress at bay with a pistol. The negress, it is believed, is insane.

The first intimation of danger was when Mrs. Artley found her servant running through her rooms and snatching curtains from the walls. When she remonstrated the crazed negress flew into a rage and, fanning the air with an oak stave she had snatched from the floor, vowed she was going to kill Mrs. Artley, who backed into her husband's room and, taking a revolver from the bureau, forced the negro to leave the house.

"I'm coming back to get you and the whole family and burn the house," declared the woman as she left.

Call Officers Ford and Bowman were summoned and located the Horton woman in her home, at 228 Belmont avenue. She was taken to the police station on charges of disorderly conduct.

The negress has served faithfully in the Artley home for a number of years and this is the first suggestion of a mental disorder. Mrs. Artley stated.

Rabbi Descended From King David Taken by Death

New York, December 8.—Chief Grand Rabbi Isaac Friedman, reputed to be a direct descendant of King David, died today after a brief illness.

He came to this country on June 3 of this year from his home in Vienna to promote Judaism and was planning to return to Austria, where he left a wife and two children, on December 17.

Chief Grand Rabbi Friedman, who was 30 years old, was one of the highest ranking Jewish prelates in Europe. At the outbreak of the war he was living in his ancestral palace in Austria, but was forced to flee with his family, while his property, handed down by ancestors who for the last 300 years had been heads of Jewish in Austria, Galicia and Poland, was practically swept away.

Since the war he traveled extensively. He came to this country to appeal for the stricken population of eastern Europe and was greeted here by thousands who thronged the street front of the synagogue where he spoke.

COOLIDGE RECOMMENDS GEORGIA POSTMASTERS

Washington, December 8.—(Special.)—Making his first appointments in Georgia since he assumed office, President Coolidge sent the names of nine postmasters to the senate today. They are George C. Youmans, Adrian, Mazie Brett, Alamo; John B. Crawford, Cairo; Henry M. Miller, Colquhoun; J. B. Boone, Hazlehurst; Ann C. Williams, Lumpkin; Ben H. McLarty, Soperton; Earnest E. Slack, Tifton, and Maude D. Thompson, T.Y.

Senator George, of Georgia, who is a member of the postoffice committee, said he will make an investigation of the list of appointments sent to the senate by the president. To determine if he will support their confirmation. From a cursory scrutiny of the list Monday, he said he thought those selected were acceptable. Most of them, he said, he thought were democrats.

However, if it develops that any one of these or any future appointments in the state are involved in charges recently made against Henry Lincoln Johnson, republican national committeeman, George will oppose their confirmation. He said he will carefully examine all names submitted to the postoffice committee.
